Fifty Golden Years . . . Half a Golden Century

so long a time . . .
and yet so short.
This edition of the 1962 Midlander is but another chapter in the passing spectacle of a college's life another chapter in the life of an institution.
FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS of shifting, changing people who have come and gone . . .
some that you've never met,
some that you will never meet,—and some that you'll never forget—, not even after another FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS have come . . .
and gone.
This is MTSC, for an institution is not building and books and grounds . . . .
it is people
and emotions
and memories.
This is MTSC and we have been a part of its progress and its growth during 1961—62. We have seen things that were once new ideas suddenly become old and accustomed. We remember times that are hard to forget . . .
student lounges that are now modern post offices . . . the mud and the ditches that gave way to buildings and streets . . .
New teachers in the classroom, new faces, new plans, new parking lots, new cars in the parking lots, new people in the cars . . .
and not enough time for anything—,
especially sleep . . . .
these are the things that will blend and jell and become the accustomed . . . and the accepted the things that will make up the next Fifty Years . .
All of us came here,—new to it all. But we pushed our colors and our ways and our ideas and ourselves into the pattern . .
and turned it . . .
and whirled it . . and the time flew by . . .
sometimes with elation . . .
or cheers . . .
or grief . .
or worry . .
but the time passed on as did these things . . . and a pattern emerged that was the same after all . . .
the same as any other one of these FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS . . . and yet totally different from any other . . .
hard to hold onto;
to pass on,
or even to show to someone else, because it changed all the time, even as we touched it and held it in our hands . . . .
like the strings of the world in our hands.

THE PAST . . . THE PRESENT

1962

DEDICATED TO THE

The campus beautiful, an image of the college itself . .
Viewing it is like viewing a well-loved face that is ever changing . . .
A lingering look from the lobby of the modern library across the grassy expanse of the circle . . .
past the traditional design of the Language Arts building . . .
To the raw muddy cuts of Lyon Hall where a new dormitory shyly rises, almost embarrassed by the brashness of its newness that is a sharp contrast to the serenity of a campus that has seen
Five GOLDEN decades slip quietly by . . .
Only a look across the MTSC campus and one is aware of the Past . . .
and the Present . . .
and the Future.
The old Ad building,
a nostalgic reminder of the past,
the early days of struggle to survive, . . .
the early days when MTSC was only another ungainly addition to the rash of Normal Schools that were springing up . . . when no one was really concerned about her future except those who had effected her founding.
The new Fine Arts building . . . symbolic of the progress that has made MTSC capable of rendering valuable service to those seeking knowledge . . .
The new addition to Lyon Hall . . . representing the continuing growth . . . the ever increasing desire to make Middle Tennessee State College better . . . capable of rendering greater service . . . capable of being a greater institution.

Future

THE PAST

1911 . . . a significant date for the students of MTSC. This was the beginning, the first movements which were to create in the mid-state area a new center of learning and intellectual achievement. The present and the future can never be completely separated from the past for these early beginnings helped to determine the standards, the policies and the goals which have formed the MTSC that now exists, the MTSC that we know.

The past is a long record of struggle . . . the birth throes and the struggle of gaining political sanction for the founding of a new educational institution . . . the development of a program that would attract students of high caliber . . . the fight to survive a depression and two world wars. These are significant chapters of the past.

In conquering these challenges, MTSC proved itself. The growth from a State Normal School to a State Teacher's College to a liberal arts college has been a history of expanding goals and purpose. This is the past . . . without it the present could not have been realized . . . without it there could be no hope for the future. As we look at these nostalgic reminders of the past we observe our foundations . . . our origins. From this we grew.

MIDDLE

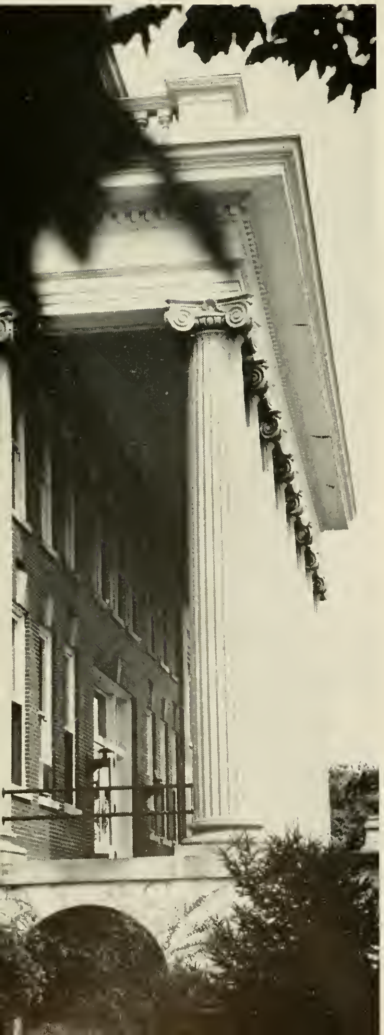
THE PRESENT

The observation of the past calls for a tribute to those who have preceded us. A look at the present calls for an evaluation of what we are . . . of our purposes . . . our aspirations . . . our accomplishments.

Even as we have observed this FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY, we have become a part of the past . . . our actions will determine new patterns, new trends and new standards. Even as we now judge those who preceded us, we will one day be critically observed.

There will be much to commend us . . . a championship football team, . . . a superior speech program . . . an expanding faculty and curriculum . . . students who demonstrated academic superiority.

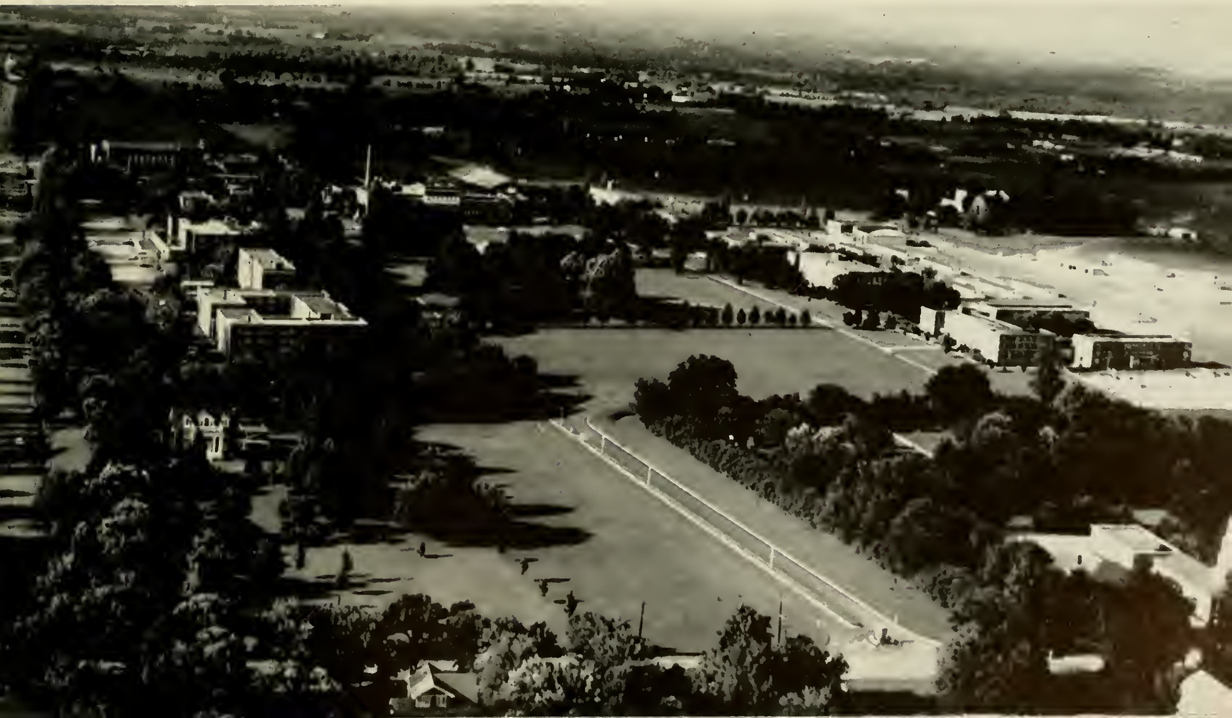


And there will be some that will condemn . . . the student who didn't quite make it . . . the opportunities we passed up . . . the moments we wasted, . . . but all of this . . . our successes and our failures are now another year of the past; it cannot be changed, only built upon, improved upon by those who will succeed us.

The Present has been ours for the year of 1962. THE MIDLANDER is a review of what we have done with it.

In these pages we will see ourselves as future MTSC students will one day see us . . . only we will not smile at ourselves as perhaps they may.

The present goes so rapidly. The pace of a college student's life is set at such a rate that the present slips quietly into the past before he has even been aware of the fact that it was here.



The things of the present will remain in a large degree. The broad aims of a college education will be absorbed into our philosophy, our way of thinking, our goals and our aims. Much of the present will mould us for the future. The acquired knowledge of four years at MTSC will become a part of us, an integral aspect of the way we think . . . but the things we will remember . . . the things that will one day be most dear . . . are the little things . . . the delightful moments of fun that were squeezed in between the hours of class and study . . . the friends we made . . . the people we admired . . . the things we did . . . these things are a part of the present and to a great extent they will shape and mould us for tomorrow. Our laughter of the present will help us keep our power to think straight in the future . . . our loyalties of the present will teach us responsibilities for tomorrow . . . our moments of relaxed existence at MTSC in the present will prepare us for the long hard pull ahead . . . the little moments of beauty and joy which we have learned to hold onto in the present will help us to learn that all the joy we can know in the future will be based on a sum total of little moments of pleasure and contentment . . .

These aspects of student life at MTSC are reflected in a hundred different ways in every day of the present. Our laughter in the present rang out about a hundred different things . . . the sly smile at the mid-winter formal that seems to ask," Do you know where the totem pole is?" The rollicking frolic in the snow . . . the polite smiles of the hundred and one receiving lines in which we stood.

A worn out pair of tennis shoes dangling lazily in front of the Ad building steps is symbolic of the relaxed moments when we forgot about hundred things we had to do and just enjoyed being young . . .

A thousand multi-colored umbrellas defying a cold drizzle at a football game . . . that was our loyalty in action

The lights gleaming around the circle in the first soft darkness of twilight . . . the warm glow of the library's lighted windows on a chilly winter evening . . . the quiet walks around the campus . . . the puddles gleaming in the light of the street lamps . . . these were the fleeting moments of beauty and joy that marked the present and that will live in the past.

Some may say that these trivialities have no meaning for the future . . . but they were a very real part of the present . . . and the future has nothing on which to build except the present which we have known . . .

at MTSC, 1962.

THE FUTURE

The Future is such an intangible thing. It is not a record of past accomplishments . . . it is only the summation of hopes for tomorrow, it is not the concrete progress that lies behind . . . it is the dreams which lie ahead. The realizations of the future are the air castles built by a foresighted leader of the past.

We do not have to look far to find hope for the future on the MTSC campus. Much of it is already beyond the hoping and dreaming stage . . . much of the future is already taking shape . . . the almost completed girl's dorm . . . the plans for a spacious and modern auditorium and speech building. The Future is all around us . . . in the farsightedness of our administration . . . in the long-range goals of the faculty . . . in the growing interest of state legislators and educational leaders.

The Future is not only around us but in us . . . in our own personal goals . . . in our hopes for the day when MTSC will be a university . . . in our potential for the future. The MTSC that we and generations past have known has been the result of someone's dreams . . . some thinker's planning. The Middle Tennessee State College that generations yet unborn will know will be the result of our dreams and our thinking . . .

and so, it is appropriate that as this GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY draws to a close that we remind our selves to think big . . .
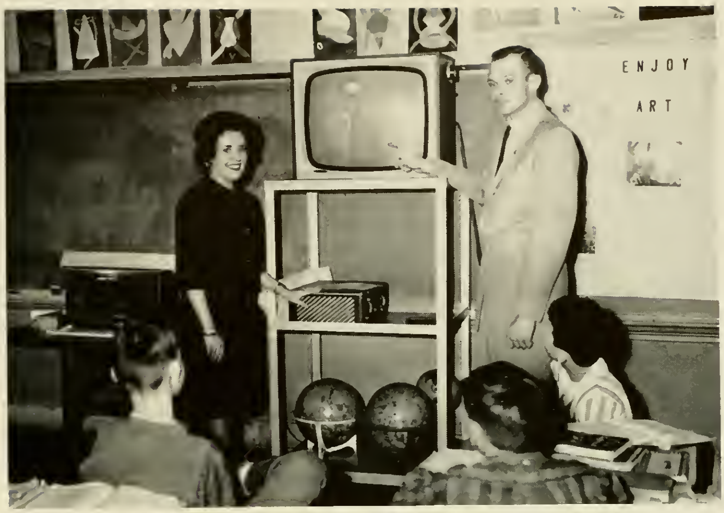
aim high . . .
and plan well . . .
thus we will project ourselves into the MTSC of 1962.



The most important aspect of the future is progress in both facilities and cirriculum. Under the leadership of Dr. Quill E. Cope, the progress made at Middle Tennessee State College during the past five years has been astounding, but it seems that this past progress is only an indication of what the future holds.

In a recent announcement, Dr. Cope revealed plans for the immediate future, which will make MTSC a bigger and better college than it has ever been before. In June, 1962 ground will be broken for a new Speech and Drama building which will include in its facilities; language laboratories, a 1000 seat, air-conditioned auditorium, a 200 seat arena theatre, speech classrooms and the facilities for establishing a speech and hearing center here. This new addition to our campus will make it possible for MTSC to add Speech and Drama to its list of majors.

Also in 1962, the final plans will be drawn for two more new dormitories. To be located just below Simms, Beasley and Smith Halls, the new buildings will house freshmen men and will contain their own cafeteria. This is the future of MTSC . . . being planned today.

Administration

From an opening enrollment of 125 in 1911
. . . to an opening enrollment of more than 3000 in 1962 .
From a two year Normal of 1911
. . . to a highly respected four year college in 1962
From a single building in 1911 . . .
to a sprawlingly beautiful campus with total facilities worth more than eight million dollars in 1962
From a faculty of 18 in 1911 . . .
to a faculty of more than 140 highly specialized instructors in 1962 . . .
These are the accomplishments of Fifty Golden Years!
This progress, . . . this growth was once nothing more than a dream in the minds of a few far-sighted administrators . . .
Men such as Robert L. Jones, the 1st president who guided the school through its formative years . . .

Alfred Lyon who saw MTSC through the bitter depression years . . .
Q. M. Smith who developed a teacher's college into the expanded program that made it Middle Tennessee State College . . . and Dr. Quill E. Cope, . . the president of the MTSC which we know . . .
of which we are a part.
To these able administrators we owe a great debt
For their dreams which have made us what we are and what we shall become.

Dr. Quill E. Cope received his B.S. degree from Tennessee Polytechnic Institute in 1933. His M.A. and M.Ed. degrees were conferred by Peabody College in 1936 and in 1949 and he received the Ed. D. degree from New York University in 1951.

During his four years as President of Middle Tennessee State College, Dr. Cope has been highly successful in raising the academic standards of the college and also in improving its physical facilities. The varied activities of a college president are never ending. He must listen to the problems of the faculty, examine school policies, serve as host to visitors, counselor to students, and friend to graduates and instructors, and continually search for ways to better the college. His task is not an easy one, but Dr. Cope through his devotion to MTSC has endeared himself to the college community and to all who work with him.

PRESIDENT

Dr. Cope and his secretary, Mrs. Bonnie McHenry. "Miss Bonnie" has the distinction of serving as secretary to all of MTSC's Presidents.

President and Mrs. Cope and their sons, John Rogers and James.

The President's home

Dr. Quill E. Cope has brought to Middle Tennessee State College a wide variety of experience and an extensive background of service and training, and yet, just as important, he has brought to our college one of the most charming first families ever to inhabit the stately brick home which houses the President and his family. The charm and grace which meet in the personality of MTSC's first lady are appropriate compliments for the success which has marked the first four years of her husband's administration.

Governor Buford Ellington

THE GOVERNOR

The diverse abilities of Tennessee's Governor, Hon. Buford Ellington, have given him the reputation of being a leader who is outstanding in both ability and experience. His term as governor of the state has been another successful chapter in his impressive and effective career of public service. The progress made by Middle Tennessee State College during that time is an excellent tribute to his administration. It is altogether appropriate that MTSC should celebrate its Fiftieth Anniversary, commemorating fifty years of educational progress, during the administration of a governor who has contributed much toward making it an outstanding educational institution.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Under the leadership of Commissioner Joe Morgan, the State Board of Education constitutes the policy making branch of the college's administration. The Board of Education of the State of Tennessee is composed of outstanding people from the fields of education, government and business. The diverse abilities of the members of this board and the service which each of them has been willing to give to the college have been instrumental in making Middle Tennessee State a leading southern college. The men and women who serve the college, through insight and careful planning, work with the college administration to keep MTSC progressing as it has during the proceding FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS.

Members of the State Board are: Row 1: E. S. Jennings, Mrs. B. A. McDermott, Mrs. Tom Wilson, Joe Morgan. Row 2: Howard Warf, Tom Divine, Thornton Strang, Joe Williams, Ernest Ball.

DEAN KIRKSEY

HOWARD KIRKSEY
THE FOUR-WAY TEST
1 Is it the TRUTH?
2 Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3 Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4 Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

DEAN OF FACULTY

Dean Howard Kirksey, who received his Ph.D. from Peabody College in 1950, has served Middle Tennessee State College since 1945. During his administration as Dean of Faculty, the academic standards and total educational program of the college have steadily moved toward a complete realization of the high educational standards which have been the ultimate goal of MTSC over the past fifty years.

Dean Kirksey's practical demonstrations of his reputation as an educational authority have resulted in a far-sighted educational program for the college. His supervision of the curriculum and his overall policies have given MTSC a total academic program designed to meet the expanding needs of our "space-age society."

JOHN E. WEEMS
REGISTRAR

DEAN WEEMS

DEAN OF ADMISSIONS

The history of an institution is composed of many things . . . many changes . . . old ways giving way to the new . . . new faces replacing the old . . . each change, each new event writing another chapter of progress.

It is appropriate that this year should mark the arrival of a new Dean of Admissions on the MTSC campus. Dean John Weems came to Middle Tennessee State College from Kentucky Wesleyan College where he had served as Dean of Admissions. Prior to his entering the educational field in 1955, Dean Weems had been in the executive training program of the Proctor and Gamble Company. He received both his B.S. and his M.A. degree from George Peabody College.

Dean Weems brings to MTSC a wide background of educational and business experience. His administration marks the beginning of a new chapter in the history of Middle Tennessee State College. The vigor with which he has undertaken his duties here indicates that this new chapter shall be in keeping with the growth and progress which has marked the Fifty Golden Years Past.

After some thirty-five years of service as Dean of Admissions, Dean N. C. Beasley has retired from active duty. He is now in charge of managing endowment and scholarship funds and assists Dean John Weems in the admissions office. His duties at MTSC have always been discharged with a conscientious devotion that marks a truly great man.

DEAN BEASLEY

Associate Dean of Admissions

DEAN KEATHLEY

DEAN OF STUDENTS

Dr. Belt Keathley received his Ed. D. from the University of Tennessee and has an impressive record of service in the State Department of Education in addition to his significant contributions as Dean of Students at MTSC. Dean Keathley, in directing and co-ordinating student life and activities on the campus, deals with all of the thoroughly complex problems which accompany student life. Serving as mediator and counselor in the conflicts, disturbances and differences which normally arise in the course of the college year, Dean Keathley constantly strives for promotion of understanding and co-operation between student groups and between students and the administration.

In addition to being an understanding and sympathetic counselor, Dr. Keathley directs students in securing work-grants and scholarships. Through his activities, many students find the assistance and encouragement to obtain a college education.

DEAN HAMPTON

DEAN OF WOMEN

The expanding program of Middle Tennessee State College created, in 1960, the need for a new administrative office. The appointment of a Dean of Women marked a significant step forward in the development of the administration and its capacity for administering to the needs of MTSC students.

Dean Martha Hampton will be recorded in the next Fifty Years of MTSC history as the third Dean of Women. She came to the college from Palmer, Tennessee, where she had taught for more than twenty-five years in the Palmer elementary school. Her B.S. and M.A. degrees were taken at Middle Tennessee State College and her Ed. S. from George Peabody College.

The understanding which Dean Hampton has displayed in handling the problems of students who have needed her guidance, her sense of humor and her fundamental faith in the advancement of learning have made her a great asset to the college community. During her first months as Dean of Women she has more than demonstrated her love of truth, her spirit of tolerance and her ability to render great service to the individual and the college.

MR. JACKSON

As it is often said, "Behind every effective administrator there is an associate." The smooth handling of financial matters at MTSC is the result of the joint effort of Mr. Jackson and his very capable associate, Mr. T. B. Woodmore. Author of a book on financial administration, Mr. Woodmore uses his experience and knowledge to assist Mr. Jackson in meeting the needs of a constantly increasing student body and expanding campus activities.

T. B. WOODMORE

Associate Business Manager

BUSINESS MANAGER

In the materialistic world of 1962, success cannot be separated from finances. This is true even in the world of college administrations and one of MTSC's administrators who is basic to the effective functioning of Middle Tennessee State College is Mr. Jimmy Jackson, the college business manager. Under his efficient direction, the complicated round of collecting fees, paying bills and distributing salaries is reduced to a seemingly uncomplicated, smoothly functioning operation throughout his effective and efficient administration of financial duties.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Director of Field Services

No college has ever been blessed with an ambassador of good will comparable to the Director of Field Services at Middle Tennessee State College. Mr. Robert Abernathy is a tradition at the college, a tradition that has had no equal in its past fifty years and one which is not likely to be equalled during the next fifty. His quick smile, ready wit and sincere manner exert an almost hypnotic charm which has drawn many scores of high school students to Middle Tennessee State College.

Mr. 'Bob' is the first and last contact that a majority of students have with MTSC, being the one who brings them to the college and the one who helps place them in a suitable position when they have completed their work here.

Mr. Robert Abernathy

Mr. Harold Jewell

Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds

One of the five basic images which President Cope has sought to create for MTSC is that of the college beautiful. This undertaking involves everything from landscaping to waxing floors, from mowing lawns to thawing frozen water pipes. The MTSC Maintenance Department is responsible for maintaining the comfort of the students and the beauty of the campus by effectively discharging such duties. Much of the smooth functioning of the college program is dependent upon the behind-the-scenes work of the men and women comprising the Maintenance Department.

The responsibility for the efficient operation of the Maintenance Department rests upon the shoulders of Mr. Harold Jewell, who discharges this duty with competency and effectiveness.

Dr. James Martin

Testing and Guidance Director

It has been said that one of the greatest responsibilities of a college is to help its students see through themselves so that they can see themselves through. This responsibility at MTSC rests in the hands of Dr. James Martin, the institution's Guidance and Testing Director. In addition to his popular classroom lectures, Dr. Martin administers tests to determine academic achievement, mental capacity and vocational aptitudes. The real value of the program which Dr. Martin directs lies in the counselling and guidance which he and his staff give as an effective follow-up to the testing program itself. Through Dr. Martin's activities, students at MTSC are helped to understand their capabilities and the way they can best utilize their natural potential.

Dr. Homer Pittard

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Alumni Secretary

Much of the responsibility for the future of education rests with its alumni. Realizing this, MTSC has constantly worked to create an effective organization of its thousands of alumni who are now serving in hundreds of communities throughout the United States. Dr. Homer Pittard, the alumni secretary, is in charge of organizing and encouraging the growth of alumni associations for graduates of MTSC. There are now some fourteen of these organizations in the United States and the District of Columbia.

The alumni of MTSC are a vital and integral part of the growth and development of the college. As the college has grown during its Fifty Golden Years, so has its Alumni Association. Dr. Pittard has proved an efficient and capable director who has promoted and developed this phase of MTSC college life to an extent which demonstrates his effectiveness as alumni secretary.

Director of Public Relations

Diversification is the word that best describes the director of publications at Middle Tennessee State College. Mr. Gene Sloan has been successful in three fields: journalism, law and education. In addition to being an experienced newspaper man, Mr. Sloan is a professor of business law and journalism, and currently a member of the Tennessee Bar Association.

Much of the reputation which MTSC has gained in recent years has been centered around the effective publicity which Mr. Sloan has created for the college. It is he who is responsible for seeing that both the accomplishments of the college and the accomplishments of the students as individuals are duly recognized.

Mr. Gene Sloan

Mr. Robert Brooks

Director of Athletic Publications

Through athletic publications, the student body and the public in general are acquainted with the aims and activities of the various athletic groups on the campus. This phase of the MTSC Publications Department helps to create school spirit and gives duly deserved recognition to the college's athletic programs. Mr. Robert Brooks, director of athletic publications at the college, is qualified in both journalism and athletic experience for the execution of his duties. His avid interest in the field of sports lends an enthusiasm to his publications which makes them doubly effective in fulfilling their purpose.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

The steady growth of the MTSC student body has demanded a specialized staff to care for the needs of the hundreds of campus dwellers and commuters. Mrs. Evelyn Felder, assisted by Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, serves as hostess of the Student Union Building where recreation rooms are located and where the majority of student dances are held. Mrs. Thelma Harrison administers pills and potents to combat aches and pains in the new student infirmary, and Miss Iree McElroy distributes words of encouragement, phrases of love and epistles containing those life-giving checks in the newly remodeled post office.

Mr. Charles Phillips, manager of the MTSC bookstore, serves as the chief supplier of texts and classroom supplies to MTSC students, but his services do not end there. The bookstore regularly provides everything from sweatshirts to Spinoza, from kwepie dolls to Darwin and thus the students survive.

Mr. Charles Phillips

HOUSEMOTHERS

Assuming the role of mothers away from home, the dormitory matrons are appropriately called housemothers. They play a vital role in counseling and disciplining women students who live in dormitories. Their understanding and sympathetic supervision of student life helps to develop an atmosphere within the dormitories that makes the experience of dorm life a lasting and pleasurable memory. The charming efficiency of MTSC's dormitory matrons has resulted in dormitory life that closely parallels that of "one big happy family." Just ask any girl!

These efficient and capable ladies serve as combination doctor-sergeant-psychiatrist-receptionist-diplomats. Dealing daily with the problems of MTSC co-eds, housemothers admit that the job demands much of them, but at the same time find compensations in the accomplishments and the development of the young ladies with whom they work.

Dairy Barn

The test of the effectiveness of any educational institution is the practical role which it plays in providing educated men and women specifically trained to meet the needs of the community in which that institution exists. The fertile farming and dairy country in which MTSC is located has made it imperative for the college to provide well-trained graduates to meet the challenge of agriculture and advanced agricultural techniques of a "space-age" society.

Under the direction of Dr. Theodore Bigger, MTSC'S modern and well equipped agriculture department, centered in a tri-building facility, trains its majors for teaching, for research and for successful farming careers.

One of the most outstanding members of the agriculture department at MTSC concludes a long and useful career at the close of the 1961–62 college year. Mr. B. B. Gracey, Jr., a member of the MTSC faculty since 1918, begins his retirement during the FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY of the school whose history he has helped to make for more than 44 years.

Dr. Joseph Orze, former football star and current art expert, assumed the responsibility of directing the MTSC Art Department this past fall. Dedicated to the procreation of the creative arts and to the promotion of art appreciation among our students, the art department carries out a program designed to train its majors in the use of the materials and processes of art. In achieving the latter purpose, the department sponsors periodic art displays in the art gallery of the Fine Arts Building. The quality of MTSC's art faculty has been demonstrated this year in the wide attention given by recognized critics to the work of some of the department's faculty.

The MTSC Biology Department, in its second year of existence as an independent division, is evidence of the expanding academic program which has characterized Fifty Golden Years of Progress at MTSC. The outstanding faculty of the Biology Department, under the direction of Dr. John Patten, trains students in the basic concepts of the origins, functions and preservation of basic forms of life on our planet. The basic scientific skills transmitted by this department provide a general background for students pursuing a liberal arts program and supply a foundation for the specialized training given in its upper division courses to those students enrolled in pro-professional and research programs.

The loud clackety-clack of belabored typewriters and the industrious whirr of adding machines are outward manifestations of the inner acquistion of knowledge effected by the faculty of the MTSC Business Department. Striving to meet the unsatisfied demands for business teachers and personnel, the department, under the direction of Mr. E. W. Midgett, trains students in the techniques and principles of business and secretarial skills.

Housed in a new, completely air-conditioned building and furnished with the most modern equipment, the department has a greater number of majors than any other academic division. Its graduates are qualified to enter either the professional or teaching aspects of business. A special two-year course trains students in limited business skills and earns the student a business-certificate in lieu of a college diploma.

As man's struggle for survival on this earth has become more and more challenging, he has become increasingly aware of the importance of understanding the nature and composition of the universe in which he exists. The underlying purpose of the Chemistry & Physics Department of MTSC is to train young men and women, to supply them with the skills and knowledge necessary to allow them to meet the challenge of this rapidly expanding frontier of man's wisdom and to prepare them to make a worthwhile contribution to their society. In training young people in the skills of professional science, the Chemistry & Physics Department plays an important role, helping man to help himself. Training School

A student teacher fulfills a requrement as an Education major.

The Education Department of MTSC, headed by Dr. Wilmouth Bowdoin, is staffed with a faculty of carefully chosen, experienced and well-trained instructors who attempt to meet the ever-increasing demand for top flight teachers. Originally founded to meet this specific need, MTSC takes great pride in its Education Department and its efforts to prepare professional educators who excel in all phases of teaching.

The MTSC Campus School prepares professional educators through the study of theories and their practical applications. The background, ideas and theories which are presented in formal classes are put into practice by student teachers at the campus school. The climax of every education major's program comes when he puts what he has been taught into action under the careful eye of an experienced educator.

Located adjacent to the main campus, the Campus school is under the supervision of Mr. Hilary Parker and a staff of select educators.

Directed by Dr. Francis Riel, the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department of MTSC is dedicated to the proposition that the mental processes are only a part of the total personality and that a healthy mind functions best in a healthy and well-developed body. Through the utilization of physical skills and practices, Dr. Riel and the faculty help to develop, within the student, attitudes that are essential to healthy living. This very generalized approach is founded on the interrelationship of mind and body and is designed to benefit the average student. A more highly specialized program is provided for those who wish to make a career in the field of health, physical education, and recreation.

A demonstration begins the Foods Preparation Class.

The most important role of the women has always been the role that she has played in the development of the home. An individual can best meet the needs of his society if he can satisfy his own personal needs, and the Home Economics Department enriches the lives of its majors and minors through an extensive program in nutrition, home decoration, fashion design, personal and family needs. Miss Margaret Putman, head of the department, leads her staff in preparing their students for a career as a professional home economist or as a homemaker. This year the Home Economics Department moved into a newly constructed, completely modern building which will greatly facilitate the attainment of its objectives. Still another symbol of Fifty Golden Years of Progress at MTSC.

Modern America has become more and more concerned with utilizing to the utmost its citizens who are skilled in the manual arts. Recognizing this new emphasis upon the importance of industrial arts, Mr. Edwin Voorhies and the industrial arts faculty continually search for more challenging methods of developing majors capable of playing an important role in a technological world. Through the study of industrial technique and practice, industrial arts students learn skills with their hands and in the mechanics of machinery and are thus equipped to be of great value in the technological progress of our civilization.

Since we have become an air-borne nation, MTSC's Industrial Arts Department has sought to keep pace with the times and Mr. Miller Lanier and Dr. Bealer Smotherman offer special courses in meterology, air navigation, civil air regulations and flight theory to students interested in aviation. Such progress is typically characteristic of Fifty Golden Years at MTSC.

The English Building

English Building—Main Entrance

The Language Department of MTSC is a combination of classic liberal arts education and progressive literary thought. Under the supervision of Dr. Richard Peck, the department takes great pride in the quality of its staff and its majors. The work of the Language Department is broken down into four main divisions: English, foreign languages, speech and library service.

Dr. Peck and the English staff attempt to teach freshmen and sophomores the correct use of their native language and direct the English majors in a diversified survey of literature.

Mr. Lane Boutwell, Mr. Clifton Trimble and Mr. John O'Hara provide training in rhetoric and speech skills and offer means for practical application of these speech skills in a supervised forensic program. Drama, in practice and theory, is the specialty of Mrs. Dorethe Tucker, a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

The division of foreign languages is staffed by Mrs. Phil Howard, Mrs. Wade Gilbert and Dr. Carl Cobb. Under their guidance students strive for a mastery of French, German, and Spanish.

The Middle Tennessee State College Library, housed in the Andrew L. Todd building on the east side of the campus is under the direction of Miss Catherine Clark. There are approximately 84,000 books, periodicals and newspapers in the library collection.

The new and modern library facilities on the MTSC campus are symbolic of the latest contribution to the progress which we commemorate during this FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY. It is an asset to the students and faculty in many ways. Miss Clark and the members of the library staff welcome students and faculty members and assist them in using its facilities not only for the preparation of class assignments and research, but also for the enjoyment of recreational and cultural reading.

The attractive Andrew L. Todd building contains two spacious reading rooms, one on the first floor where reference works are located and another on the second floor where both current and bound periodicals are located.

On the ground floor of the building, the library service department is located. Under the direction of Miss Leneil Edwards, undergraduate courses in library science, designed to train school librarians, are offered. A minor of 18 semester hours in library service may be secured.

No department at MTSC has a more universal appeal than that department which deals with the language that is common to all men everywhere. Under the capable direction of Mr. Neil Wright, the Music Department teaches basic musical skills and theories and offers a widely diversified program ranging from marching band to the production of an opera. During the year, the band, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Smith and Mr. Horace Beasley, participated in the Tangerine Bowl festivities at Orlando, Florida, and made an annual tour of Middle Tennessee high schools. The Varsity Choir, directed by Mr. Neil Wright, presented "Cavalleria Rusticana", a dramatic opera, during the winter semester.

A wide variety of special concerts and musical activities allows for the use of the attractive and modern facilities of the Fine Arts Building and offers a program designed to meet the needs and interests of students desiring adequate competencies in voice, band, orchestra and individual instruments.

Study and meditation before Economics class

Today, we are more aware than ever of the truth of Pope's declaration that "The proper study of man is man." Since man is seeking, in our society more than ever before, to know as much as possible about himself, his origins, his history and the structure of his society and because of the pre-eminent threats facing the democratic form of government under which we live, the role of the social scientist has become an increasingly important one. A well-trained staff, the extensive resources of the nearby state capital and more than 22,000 volumes in the MTSC library are available to assist Dr. Norman Parks in offering social science majors at MTSC a program designed to help them achieve competency in economics, geography, history, political science, and sociology.

Leadership

One day a green cadet on an ROTC drill field the next a soldier risking his all in defense of the nation Today a fumble-fingered freshmen breaking test-tubes in the chemistry lab
Tomorrow . . . a scientist opening new frontiers for better living . . . for all mankind.
In the college debater . . .
the potential lawyer, senator or college president . . .
The seasoned journalist . . .
once a college editor.
These are the purposes of a college to develop leaders . . .

thinkers . . . dreamers . . .
for it is they who build and mold the future.
In Fifty Golden Years of History, MTSC has done its share to build leaders . . .
to contribute to the future.
Today, MTSC proudly continues in this tradition of LEADERSHIP.

ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY

Every student entering Middle Tennessee State College becomes, upon payment of his college fees, a member of the Associated Student Body. The purpose of this organization is to function as the supreme instrument of government in regulating the affairs of students on the MTSC campus. It strives to promote the best interests of the entire college community while, at the same time, advances the welfare of the individual student on the MTSC campus.

The ASB functions within the limits of its constitution and within the powers granted the association by the administrative authorities of the college. The organization of the ASB is divided into three main branches, executive, legislative and judiciary. The constitution places great emphasis upon the office of the president who is the official representative of the association to the administration and the only one to whom they may look for immediate responsibility.

Charlie Harrell, President

ASB PRESIDENT

The tremendous responsibility which accompanies the honor of being elected ASB president requires that the person chosen for this office have an outstanding sense of duty, a knack for organization, an ability to inspire the best in his fellow students and the inherent capacity for leadership. Not every student body is fortunate enough to always have the wisdom to choose such a person as the top student official.

Charlie Harrell, ASB President for 1961-62, has more than proved his ability to meet these standards. Increased concern for students stranded over the week end, a continuning effort to promote co-operation and unity among the sixty different student organizations on campus, dignity and integrity in personal affairs . . . all these have been characteristic of Charlie Harrell's administration as president. His contributions to the tradition of pride and honor in student government have been a fitting climax to FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS at MTSC.

VICE-PRESIDENT

CHARLENE BENTLEY, Vice-President

Forty-eight hours a day is approximately how much time the office of ASB Vice-President consumes. Charlene Bentley, a Home Economics-Math major from Lebanon, has amazed those who have observed her outstanding ability to always find time for everything. Responsible for helping to plan and co-ordinate student social activities, Charlene must also preside over the Student Congress and assist the ASB president in leading the student body toward a more well-rounded student life on the MTSC campus. This versatile young lady has done much to make the students proud that they elected her to the office.

SECRETARY

LINDA SUE REEVES, Secretary

Linda Sue Reeves, Student Body Secretary for 1961-62 began her political career as a member of the ASB Congress in 1959-60. She has been a valuable asset to the school as a cheerleader and her tremendous popularity with MTSC students is evidenced by the many honors which have been awarded her. Hailing from Murfreesboro, Linda Sue is an English major. In addition to keeping the minutes of ASB meetings and carrying on all official ASB correspondence, Linda Sue is responsible for editing the weekly student bulletin which is a vital means of keeping students informed in regard to meetings and other campus activities.

CONGRESS

The ASB Congress is the legislative branch of the MTSC student government. The thirteen members of congress are elected by the classes to represent them by passing laws that will help to promote the best interest of the student body as a whole. Four seniors, four juniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen make up the group which has been presided over during the 1961-62 term by Vice-President Charlene Bentley. Congress meets twice each month to consider problems brought to its attention. This body helps to formulate student government policy and plans for the future.

Barbara Williams, Treasurer

TREASURER

Pert, attractive Barbara Williams, Sociology major from Chattanooga, Tennessee has been the efficient and capable ASB Treasurer for 1961-62. Responsible for the receipt and disbursement of ASB funds received from the sale of "T" caps and other sources, Barbara has centainly given the student body more than their money's worth in service during her term as treasurer.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

The Attorney General for 1961-62 is Bobby Pitts. This outstanding senior has a varied and impressive record of campus activities ranging all the way from membership in the SCU to participation on the Sam Davis Drill Team. A social science major from Murfreesboro, Bobby Pitts has served well as the chief liaison between the ASB and the judical branch of student government.

WOMEN'S DORMITORY COUNCIL

The Women's Dormitory Council is composed of representatives from Rutledge, Lyon and Monohan Halls. This organization has one of the most difficult tasks on campus. Its members are faced with the responsibility of deciding the fate of girls who have violated rules and regulations governing the actions of students who live in the dorms. The council is a minor court which works in close co-operation with the Supreme Court, helping to maintain order and co-operation that will be to the best advantage of the student body.

Womens Dorm Council: Elner Hamner, Betty Jo Neese, Helen Thomas, Joyce Wooten, Mary Helen McDaris, Sally Smith, and Dottie Sanders.

Ernest Stoddard, Reporter

REPORTER

As in any democratic socity, the students of Middle Tennessee State College feel that competent ASB officers are a necessity for the success of student activities. In order to keep the students informed as to what the student body officers and their constituent bodies are doing. Ernest Stoddard, ASB reporter, keeps a thumb on the pulse of ASB activity and reports its ideas and accomplishments to the student populus. A social science major, Ernest hails from Nashville. His services as ASB reporter have kept the student body duly informed on the progress made by its official representatives during the year.

Supreme Court members: Bob Turman, Taylor Harrison, Don Faulk, Norman Martin; Chief Justice Bill Davis.

SUPREME COURT

The Judicial Branch of the Associated Student Body is the Supreme Court. This group is composed of two seniors, two juniors and one sophomore. One of the senior members of the Court is appointed Chief Justice by the ASB President. All of the members of the court are appointed by the chief executive. This is an appelate court which reviews any cases rules on in the dorm councils and appealed by the defendant. It also makes rulings on matters of discipline which will affect future students at MTSC. Ruling on questions of constitutionality and supervision of campus elections are further duties.

MEN'S DORMITORY COUNCIL

Jones, Smith, Beasley and Simms Halls have elected representatives who compose the Men's Dormitory Council. These representatives assist in enforcing and determining the regulations which govern the action of students living in the men's residence halls. Representatives from the individual halls assist the dormitory directors with problems which arise in the respective residence halls. In the event that a problem arises demanding further consideration, it is brought before the Interdormitory Council, composed of representatives from all four of the men's dorms. Any such case can be appealed to the Supreme Court, but the Dorm Council has an unusually good record for being successful in handling the problems which are brought before it.

Men's Dorm Council: Buddy McGuire, Jimmy Williams, Terry Bailey, Billy Pack, Joe Ball.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega is the ultimate goal of students who participate in any phase of drama on the MTSC campus. Students begin their work for membership in the activities of the Buchanan Players. This group is open to any one who is interested in the field of drama. In order to progress from the Players to Alpha Psi Omega, the aspiring dramatists must show proficiency in at least three fields of production. This includes designing or constructing sets, managing, directing, costuming, lighting, make-up, or acting. The purpose of the group is to promote excellence in the dramatic arts and bids for membership are given at the end of each semester. Students who qualify are initiated in an impressive banquet initation service. Mrs. Dorothe Tucker is the sponsor for the Lambda Gamma Chapter. SIGMA CLUB

Membership in the Sigma Club is the greatest single honor that can be bestowed upon a male student at MTSC. The organization incorporates in its requirements for membership all of the qualities of personality and intellect which MTSC has sought to use as a standard since its founding fifty years ago. This organization is composed of men who strive for excellence in scholastic ability, leadership and character. It emphasized in its activities an ascendancy of the intellectual and spiritual as opposed to the physical and material.

TAU OMICRON

One of the most highly coveted honors among the senior and junior women of MTSC is membership in Tau Omicron. An invitation to this organization implies that a woman is an exceptional individual in several aspects. In order to be eligible for membership in Tau Omicron, a woman is expected to be outstanding from the standpoint of scholarship, moral standards and leadership.

In stressing scholarship and ideals, Tau Omicron seeks to realize its motto and purpose: "To Build Rather Than Destroy". In an attempt to offer a practical aid to the realization of its aims, Tau Omicron maintains a scholarship fund for a student in her junior or senior year.

Officers are: Linda Sue Reeves, president; Janice Bullion, vice-president; Joan Simpson, secretary; Jean Fahlin, treasurer. Dr. Mary Tom Berry and Miss Buleah Davis sponsor the honor organization.

PI KAPPA DELTA

Members of Pi Kappa Delta, the national honorary speech fraternity of MTSC, are chosen for their achievements in the field of the speech arts. The members of the club are dedicated to proficiency in the "Art of Persuasion--beautiful and just." The Tennessee Zeta Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta encourages the promotion of forensic activities and strives for an improvement of speaking ability. The members of this nationally recognized organization travel many miles each year and have taken their share of honors in speech and debate tournaments in Tennessee, Mississippi, Kentucky, Alabama, North Carolina and other states. Officers are: president, Molly Lynch; vice-president, Gordon DeFriese; secretary-treasurer, A. W. Powell. The sponsor of the Tennessee Zeta Chapter is Mr. Lane Boutwell.

PI MU SIGMA

Like many of the other honorary fraternal organizations on the MTSC campus, Pi Mu Sigma is striving for the betterment of the college as well as individual improvement among its members. By promoting a higher degree of efficiency and compentency in musicianship among the members of the Alpha Chapter of Pi Mu Sigma, the organization hopes to attract more and better music students to the MTSC Music Department. The goals and aims of Pi Mu Sigma are achieved through the participation of its members in various musical programs throughout the year.

Officers are: Nolan Barham, president; Jane Pyle, vice-president; Marie Eubanks, secretary; Jerry Dooley, treasurer. Faculty members who hold national membership are Mr. Michael Gattozzi, Mr. Earl Hinton, Mrs. Harriet Patterson, Dr. Philip Howard, Mr. Neil Wright, Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mr. Kenneth Pace, Mrs. Ortrun Gilbert, Mr. Horace Beasley, Mr. Joseph Smith, and Mrs. Mary Scott.

KAPPA OMICRON PHI

Organized in 1956, the MTSC Chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi has served as a valuable subisdiary of the Home Economics Department. Its members are home economics majors who are dedicated to the highest ideals of living and who have a sincere desire to develop an appreciation for the sanctity of the American Home. Its purpose is to develop women with high ideals, and broad social, intellectual and cultural attainments. The motto of the organization is indicative of the high quality of its members and their purposes. "Prove all things, hold fast to that which is true, and the truth shall make you free."

MISS MIDLANDER

The annual selection of Miss Midlander is a major campus event which takes place at Stunt Night sponsored by the Biology Club. This year twelve representatives, sponsored by various campus clubs and honorary organizations, competed for the honor of being chosen MISS MIDLANDER. Three judges made the selection after observing the candidates in skirt and sweater and evening gown competition.

The lucky girl was Miss Joan Simpson, a charming junior from Watertown. Faye Burton, MISS MIDLANDER of 1961, officially crowned the new beauty. An elementary education major, Joan has been honored with many beauty titles. The 1962 MISS MIDLANDER is a member of Tau Omicron and Kappa Delta Pi. She plans to enter the field of education after her graduation from MTSC.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

This year's Homecoming Queen had the added honor of reigning over both the Homecoming and Fiftieth Anniversary ceremonies at the annual homecoming festivities. A former ROTC sponsor and freshman homecoming attendant, Miss Sylvia Webb was chosen to be queen of the somewhat soggy homecoming game with the University of Chattanooga. Miss Webb is a graduate of Donelson High School and plans to teach when she has finished her work at MTSC.

ROTC QUEEN

ROTC QUEEN

The ROTC Track and Sabre Club annually elects one of the ROTC sponsors to the coveted position of ROTC Queen. The lucky girl who is selected reigns over the most prominent social event of the year, the annual Military Ball, and is officially presented at that time.

This year's ROTC Queen is Renee Ross, a freshmen from Murfreesboro. Renee has been an outstanding addition to the student body, serving as a cheerleader and taking part in a wide variety of campus activities. The talented queen is an Art major and plans to enter some field of art activity upon her graduation.

THE MIDLANDER

Fifty Golden Years of Progress! 1961-62 has been another fun-filled, laughter-sprinkled, fact-packed year in the history of an institution now celebrating its Golden Anniversary. The task of catching each golden moment of this golden year, the job of preserving the happy moments and the warm memories of friends and activities that will always live in some special corner of your memory has been the chief responsibility of the MIDLANDER staff of 1961-62.

The publication of the MIDLANDER is the largest undertaking of any student group. Edited by Nadine King, the 1962 MIDLANDER is a dedicated attempt to capture for the students of MTSC the significant events and activities of the college's Golden Anniversary. Through this publication, the editor and staff of the MIDLANDER have tried to do more than present a picture collection. This year's annual is a sincere effort to capture the spirit which makes MTSC something special for its students: the friendliness, the traditions, the progress which differentiate MTSC from any other college.

Nadine King, Editor

Carolyn Gwaltney, Business Manager

It is the sincere hope of the MIDLANDER staff that the long hours spent in choosing lay-out and copy, the tedious tasks of editing pictures and soliciting advertisements, the complications of picture-making and indexing, the classes missed, the dates passed up and the coffee hours sacrificed have resulted in an annual that will be a treasured collection of college memories for every student who attended MTSC, 1961-62.

SIDELINES

What is more indispensable than a college newspaper? How can one better keep up in national and world affairs, college politics, and the intriguing "news" of the latest campus activities?

In addition to accomplishing these purposes, THE SIDELINES embraces the more long range purpose of providing a source of experience for future journalists. THE SIDELINES has, since 1926, amply fulfilled these functions and in recognition of its excellent journalism and layout has copped honor after honor with national recognition by the Associated Collegiate Press as a first class college newspaper.

Supported by advertising and student activity fees, THE SIDELINES offers, in addition to timely editorials on campus and world affairs, a number of feature columns as varied and individual in their subject matter as the people who write them. THE SIDELINES has continued to move forward in an outstanding tradition of freedom of expression on the college campus. It incorporates current ideas, attitudes, actions and achievements of both the student body and the administration to produce a truly factual and informative newspaper.

Covering everything from public programs to events of interest in Jones Hall, The Sidelines' staff from editors to reporters is kept constantly on the run trying to keep up with campus activities.

The paper has become invaluable to both the students and faculty of Middle Tennessee State College, for with our ever increasing enrollment it provides one of the few campus wide organs for distributing news and information.

Not only does it serve this useful purpose, but through the allotment of space for news stories, feature, editorial and sports coverage, it provides MTSC students with a well rounded picture of campus life and gives the staff members wonderful opportunities for development in self-expression.

Led by editor Betty Knight and managing editor Dorothy Harrison, the sports editor, photographers, columists and staff reporters record events bi-monthly, keeping the MTSC student body and informed group.

THE BUCHANAN PLAYERS

Dramatic productions on the MTSC campus are a part of the college's tradition. These much anticipated activities are the result of the dedicated work of members of the Buchanan Players. Club members gain experience in make-up, lighting, staging and acting under the experienced direction of Mrs. Dorethe Tucker.

The Buchanan Players have combined their skills and efforts to produce three impressive shows during the 1961-62 year. "Kiss and Tell," a rolicking comedy; "Cavaleria Rusticana," a dramatic opera and "Inherit The Wind," a thought-provoking drama. In addition to its major productions, members of the club produce weekly one act plays and programs. Officers are: David Gammon, President; Anne Petty, Vice-President; Vicki Wise, Secretary; Betty Simms, Treasurer.

These officers, along with hard working crew chiefs and their crews are the unseen forces which combine to take a script and develop it into the living action that brings the stage to life.

From the informality of the initial rehersals to the excitement and spectacle of opening night, the production of a dramatic presentation demands co-operation, imagination and hard work on the part of the Buchanan Players.

Rehersals begin for "Kiss and Tell."

MARCHING BAND

Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Smith, the Middle Tennessee State College Band of Blue struts onto the field at an apparently gravity-defying angle and at break neck speed to earn for themselves the reputation of the most energetic group on campus—and certainly one of the liveliest of its kind in the nation. The billiant performances of the marching band during the past football season were highlighted by the outstanding presentations by the band at the Homecoming Game and at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida. The accomplishments of the MTSC Band of Blue can be noted with pride as irrefutable proof of the fact that MTSC has kept step during Fifty Golden Years of Progress.

The ease and precision with which the band executes its thrilling exhibitions is the result of the long hours of practice which are given by band members, many of whom give of their leisure time to be a part of this distinguished MTSC group. The spirit of cooperation which these students exhibit is one of the keys to their reputation as one of the finest bands in any southern college or university. The group, led by Roddy Byrnes, 1962 drum-major, has increased its popularity wherever it has gone and has been a source of pride to MTSC during its Golden Anniversary.

CONCERT BAND

The concert band is a second aspect of the duty of MTSC band members who play a double role in the musical activities of the MTSC Music Department. In the fall the musicians don the blue and white uniforms of the Marching Band and render valuable moral support at the college football games and highlight the featured units of the Homecoming Parade.

In the winter and spring, however, the band rests its tired feet and mounts the concert stage, turning their attention to more classical music for the annual Band of Blue concert and to jazz for entertaining at student assemblies and other programs. A highlight of spring at MTSC is the annual Starlight Concert presented by the group. Under the direction of Mr. Horace Beasley, the MTSC Concert band is an object of considerable pride to all music lovers. In its annual tour, the band presents concerts of carefully chosen and well-performed musical selections to high school audiences throughout the mid-state area.

CHORUS

Under the direction of Mr. Neil Wright, the MTSC Chorus is certainly one of the busiest groups on the campus. It sponsors two fall tours, a spring concert and supplies the music for the baccalaureate service. Its tours to high schools throughout the mid-state area are a valuable means of recruiting students for the college and give the public an opportunity to appreciate the quality of the students of MTSC. Through the chorus, students are given an opportunity to exercise their talents and to sing the best in choral literature.

SACRED HARP SINGERS

One of the best known traditional groups of Middle Tennessee State College is its Sacred Harp Singers. Its numerous concert appearances hvae given it an outstanding reputation throughout the southern states. Its annual spring tour is an event that is eagerly anticipated by many people throughout Tennessee.

Organized during the summer of 1947, The Sacred Harp Singers are composed of a small group of carefully chosen music students who have demonstrated outstanding ability. They sing a repertoire of early English and Italian madrigals, Sacred Harp hymns and white spirituals, southern folk songs and ballads.

The group is directed by Mrs. Margaret Wright and is limited to a membership of twelve.

ORCHESTRA

The MTSC Orchestra, under the able direction of Mr. Michael Gattozzi, continued again this season to present fine artistic performances. The essentially amateur group is composed of both MTSC students and faculty members, and the outstanding quality of its fall concerts and its delightful contribution to the traditional Christmas program are a significant tribute to the ability of Mr. Gattozzi who has just completed his first year with the MTSC faculty.

The orchestra provides a cultral atmosphere for the college and helps to advertise quality training experience to the surrounding community. Through its fall and spring concerts, its Thanksgiving and Christmas programs and its assistance in the production of "Cavalleria Rusticana", the Orchestra has continued to serve the college with a high level of cultural and artistic achievement.

ENSEMBLES

Performance and scholarship are combined in the purpose and function of small ensemble groups in the MTSC Music Department. Through ensemble activities, students develop musicianship and come to understand historic style of chamber music literature for instruments. Under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Pace and Mr. Michael Gottozzi, chamber ensembles are quite active in local programs and engage in annual tours to high schools of the area, presenting concerts and conducting clinics. In connection with the Fiftieth Anniversary of the college, a program of chamber music was present in March.

VARSITY CHOIR

Two of the most outstanding cultural presentations of each college year are the annual opera and the spring oratorio. These activities are the responsibility of the Varsity Choir, directed by Mr. Neil Wright. A select group of thirty voices, chosen from the MTSC Chorus, comprises the choir, making it a group of the most highly skilled vocalists to be found in the MTSC music program. This year's opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," starred five outstanding members of the Varsity Choir: Julia Hollis, Jerry Dooley, Nolan Barham, Brenda Sowell, and Norma Shelton Bell and was another tribute to the exceptional training and ability of the group.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN UNION

The preservation of Christian standards on the college campus and the promotion of a unified goal among all of the church groups at MTSC is the pervading purpose of the Student Christian Union. Under its direction, the church groups participate in a non-denomination program once each month. In this effort, all groups unite to effect a spiritual atmosphere which transcends the barriers of respective creeds to join in the great bonds of universal Christian concepts.

The annual SCU Tea has been a major activity of the group this year. Its officers are A. W. Powell, president; Janice Bullion, vice-president; Julia Hollis, secretary; Mary Edith Martin, program chairman; James Gentry, publicity chairman; and Jerry Dooley, song leader. Dr. Mary Tom Berry and Dr. Bealer Smotherman sponsor the group.

CHURCH OF CHRIST FELLOWSHIP

In order to help their students gain a closer relationship to each other as well as to God, the Church of Christ group sponsors a wide variety of activities ranging all the way from their weekly worship and educational meetings to hayrides. They include skating parties, spring and fall retreats, a Christmas party and a spring banquet in their crowded calendar. In addition to this full schedule, the group manages to publish a monthly paper, the Campus Christian, which keeps its members informed on the activities of the group and provides them with inspirational selections. A special feature of the group is the Bereans, a Bible study group which meets bi-weekly in the home of some professor. Through the efforts of the Church of Christ Group, its students are able to correlate their relationship to the church and their life as students, thus arriving at a practical application of their spiritual and moral convictions in everyday life.

Officers of the group are: Ray Fox, president; Kim Foster, vice-president; Betty Alexander, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Exum Watts is sponsor.

THE BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Serving as a connecting link between the church and college life, a Baptist Student Union at MTSC is directed by Miss Lovina Fly. The Union correlates a program of social activities and spiritual growth through its regularly scheduled parties and programs. A major event for the 100 members of the group has been the purchase of a student center during the 1961-62 year.

Officers of the Baptist Student Union are: Richard Key, president; Terry Dilley, vice-president; Ann Bentley, secretary; Ed Tarpley, stewardship chairman; Dr. Robert Martin, sponsor. Officers are assisted by several committee chairmen who carry out important functions for the group.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The Wesley Foundation of MTSC has furthered its purposes of providing a spiritual and social center for Methodist students by obtaining a new and more spacious Methodist Student Center. Here, the members of the Foundation hold meetings, Bible studies, choir practices, and fellowship programs. The group serves as a subsidiary of the Methodist Church which administers to the spiritual needs of Methodist students.

SPEECH ARTS SOCIETY

Developing their speaking, thinking, and argumentative powers on controversial issues, the members of the MTSC Speech Arts Society meet weekly to increase and sharpen their abilities. Students from all classes are eligible to take part and "work their way up" through participation in these weekly sessions, through which they are prepared for participation in intercollegiate debating throughout the country.

Under the presidency of Gordon De Friese, the Society has completed an active year in which it won the Sweepstakes award in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Forensic Tournament and at which its Senior Men's Team won second place. THE NEWMAN CLUB

MTSC's Newman Club is the official Catholic youth organization of the college campus. The local group had the distinction during the past year of having its president elected to the office of State Newman Club President. It has also been in charge of the publication of the State Newman newspaper and has attended conventions in Memphis and New Orleans and a men's retreat at the Trappist monastery in Kentucky. Its members are unified through common spiritual, intellectual and social interests.

STUDENT NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Future teachers of America's youth are benefited through the choice speakers, educational movies and other worthwhile programs which are featured by the Student National Education Association. The organization functions as an important means of preparing future educators for the challenges and problems which face the teaching profession and strives to create within the student a sense of professional pride in relation to his role as a future teacher.

1961-62 BLUE RAIDERS

Head Coach—Charles "Bubba" Murphey

Fifteen years is a pretty good portion of FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS of MTSC history, but for fifteen years, Coach Charles "Bubba" Murphy has been producing first rate football teams for Middle Tennessee State College. Since he assumed leadership of the Blue Raiders in 1947, the team has enjoyed an increasingly great reputation as a football power among small colleges. During Coach Murphy's reign as Mr. Football of MTSC, the Raiders have had some of the best teams in the college's history. His able coaching, his ability to inspire a team with that "something extra" that makes them championship material is best demonstrated by the record which he has established since coming to MTSC. Under his coaching, the Raiders captured seven Volunteer State Athletic Conference Championships before dropping from that conference. In 1956 and 1957, the Big Blue was undefeated in the Ohio Valley Conference and the '56 squad participated in the Refigerator Bowl at Evansville, Indiana and the '57 team came through with a 10-0-0 season. The 1959 Raiders finished the season with a 10-0-1 mark and defeated Presbyterian in the Tangerine Bowl. This year the Raiders were runners-up for the OVC Championship and were selected over several other teams to play against Lamar Tech in the Orlando Florida classic.

Ably assisted by Joe Black Hayes, line coach, Jack Deere, who coaches ends and centers and Don Lear, backfield coach; as well as his graduate assistants, Francis Reynolds and Joe Windham, Coach Murphy has established MTSC as a football power and built a reputation for himself that is almost legendary. His record now stands 109-39-7 . . . a truly great tribute to a truly great football coach.

The Raiders began the season with a loss of twelve 1960 lettermen, two of them, Joe Windham and Larry Puryear members of the 1960 all OVC team.

It soon became evident however that the novice players were going to ably fill the shoes of the players who were gone. In the first game of the season against Austin Peay State College, three Raiders who were playing their first college games scored against the Governors and by the mid-season mark, Terry Bailey, a second teamer, was leading the Raiders in passing with 12 of 18 completed for 4 touchdowns, 294 total yards and one conversion. The senior from Hagerstown, Maryland was listed as the nation's number six total offensive leader in small college ranks. By the end of the season, George Dykes, a sophomore from Oak Ridge was leading the OVC in scoring with 44 points on 7 touchdowns and a two point pass conversion, leading the seven team loop in pass receiving with 24 grabs, seven more than runnerup, Paul West of Morehead, for a monstrous 647 yards and seven touchdowns.

In spite of its assets, the 1961 Raider team had its liabilities also. For the second straight year, injuries seemed to plague the team and outstanding players such as Jerry and Jimbo Pearson and Terry Bailey were injured at times when they were badly needed. A severe case of fumbling plagued the Raiders throughout the 1961 season and hurt the Raiders badly in their attack on the University of Chattanooga Moccassins and the Tennessee Tech Eagles. Had Murray State been in a position to take advantage of them, the Raider fumbles in that game could have been disastrous. This fumbling streak began in the first game of the season and was never quite overcome.

However, in spite of the difficulties which the team encountered, it emerged with a 6--1 OVC record and both offensive and defensive leader in the OVC in team statistics. Middle Tennessee quarterback Terry Bailey led in the passing department and George Dykes was the leading pass receiver. The Raiders were rated eighth in pass defense among the nation's small colleges and 22 in total offense on a national scale. At the Murray game, the Raiders broke their own record of yards gained in passing and set a new MTSC record of 1289 yards. All in all, the 1961 season was more than successful It was another glory-filled chapter in FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS AT MTSC.

SEVEN RAIDERS SHARE SCORING HONORS IN SUPRISING 40—7 VICTORY OVER AUSTIN PEAY STATE COLLEGE

In 1959, MTSC defeated Austin Peay in the opening game by 36 points. The Raiders went on to an undefeated season and won the Tangerine Bowl game over Presbyterian. In 1961 almost saw a repeat performance. The 1961 edition of the Raiders surprised their most optomistic followers by defeating the Governors 40 7. The score could have been two touchdowns more if the Raiders' Gene Watson hadn't been plagued by "fumbilitis". MTSC lost the ball once on the six inch line and with a first down and then again in the fourth quarter with thirty seconds left to play, the Raiders again fumbled the ball on the one yard line.

Three Raiders playing their first college game scored against the Austin Peay team. George Dykes took a 66 yard pass from Terry Bailey and made the third Raider score in the game and then set up a scoring play by snatching a pass interception from Louie Alford. Dykes ran this one back 35 yards. The score was made by an eight yard pass to Jerry Allen, another nepohyte.

After the first Raider drive had stalled on two fumbles, the team came alive with vengance in the second quarter. Phil Grammer made the first of his two touchdowns after Jim Nabors, running brilliantly, had carried the ball for 5, 16, and 16½ yards on successive tries. Dykes then took his 66 yards pass and Jerry Pearson scored on a plunge in this period.

A spectacular key play was Gerald Hayes recovering a fumbled kickoff that sparked the beginning of a 58 yard drive. In this series Jerry Pearson hit Bill Settle with a 26 yard pass and Jim Nabors was away on another of his brillant halfback scampers for 18 yards. Larry Whaley recovered an Austin Peay fumble at the end of the third quarter to end a feeble threat.

The Raiders ran for 467 yards, passed for 176 more, completed six passes in a row in the second half. There were 22 Raider first downs and six for the Governors.

MTSC vs Morehead

BAILEY'S ARM GUIDES BLUE RAIDERS TO LATE RALLY WIN OVER MOREHEAD

Riding the strong right arm of crippled quarterback Terry Bailey, the Raiders rose to perhaps their greatest exhibition of raw courage to stage a fourth quarter three touchdown rally to beat Morehead 19—14, on September 23.

For 39 minutes, the Eagles and the Raiders traded breaks and slugging football without a serious penetration. Morehead climaxed a sustained 17 play drive after the second half kickoff with Art Hastings and Murphy running to set the play for Murphy's touchdown.

Behind by seven points, the Blue stormed into the fourth quarter with a 75 yard touchdown pass and a run from Bailey to George Dykes. The pass for two points to Halliburton was broken up. The Morehead team started another dogged yard by yard advance that MTSC stymied on the 34. With 4 minutes, 22 seconds left in the game the Raiders pushed Phil Grammer across from the three after key passes had advanced the ball. Again the two point pass attempt failed.

Almost immediately, Morehead charged back with a brilliant pass play and an 18 yard jaunt by Art Hastings to score a second touchdown and pushed ahead to lead 14—12.

With surprising poise, the Raiders took the ensuing kickoff, ran three out-of-bounds plays, picked up two short first downs with passes and then with only a minute remaining, Bailey fired the tenth of 17 successful pass attempts to Larry Whaley on the five yard line. Whaley literally fought off three defenders to snatch and heave and then push his way through grasping arms to fall across the goal line. MTSC was penalized for off sides on Nabor's two point conversion, but Gupton came in to kick the seven yard PAT.

First downs in the brillantly played contest were even at 14 all. MTSC got five in the first half while Morehead was able to grab only two. But the explosive fourth quarter piled up yardage, 160 on the ground for Morehead, 145 for the Raiders. MTSC ran their total offense to 356 yards by passing for 211.

The longest run of the game came early when Nabors was away for a 28 yard gain. A second first quarter threat set up by Don Faulk's fumble recovery on the Eagle 27 failed to pan out. Defensive play by quarterback Kerr and the good pursuit by Raider ends were other marked features of the contest the 11th that Coach Murphy has won over the Eagles in 12 attempts.

MTSC vs Western Kentucky

RAIDERS STOP HILLTOPPERS-14-6

The Blue Raiders of MTSC defeated the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers 14-6 before a near capacity crowd in the enlarged, improved Jones Memorial Stadium, but Raider fans again had to wait until late in the game for the team to come from behind to down an experienced Kentucky eleven.

Coach Murphy registered his 105th victory in 15 years when Freshman guard Ronnie Camp of Marietta, Georgia intercepted a Hilltopper pass that set up the first MTSC touchdown. Bill Hobbs cracked the Western line three times, and with the ball resting on the 15 yard line, speedy Charles Rice, ex-West High School flash, scampered through a gaping hole in the left side of the line and into the end zone. With 1:30 left to play, sophomore Charles Gupton kicked the extra point which sent the Raiders ahead to stay.

In this game the MTSC team looked sluggish for their first home appearance until after the Camp interception. The Big Blue threw away two excellent chances to score in the first half when they failed to take advantages of fumble recoveries by Wayne Winters and Gary Whaley. A stout Western defense thwarted the offensive machine of the Raiders, who had averaged over 400 yards in their first two games. The Hilltoppers held the Blue and White to only 90 yards in that half.

This was the third straight win for the Raiders and was the second game in which the fans were holding their breath until the last moment. Reserves had begun to show their importance at this point in the season with Terry Bailey, then a second teamer, leading the Raiders in passing with 12 of 18 completed for 294 yards and 4 touchdowns. Jim Nabors led the team in rushing with 131 yards in 15 attempts for an 8.7 average and Larry Whaley led the team in pass receiving with 69 yards.

RAIDERS' LATE SURGE COPS THIRD OVC WIN

This game was the same story, third verse—the scores got better, but fans' nerves were getting worse!

By this time most Raider fans were on tranquilizers as they witnessed MTSC's third straight come-from-behind victory at Richmond, Kentucky on a chilly Saturday afternoon... In picking up their fourth win of the season, MTSC used a nine yard pass from quarterback Jerry Pearson to end Frank Halliburton with 1:51 remaining to give the Raiders a 22—15 victory over Eastern Kentucky.

MTSC got behind in the fourth play of the game when Eastern Kentucky's halfback, Jimmy Chittum raced 60 yards for the game's first score. The Maroons booted the extra point.

Jerry Pearson then passed to George Dykes for the initial Raider score, 58 seconds before halftime. The try for the extra point was low and Eastern left at intermission with a 7—6 lead.

Coach Murphy's gridders took the lead in the third period when halfback Charlie Rice went over from the 3 yard line. Jimbo Pearson, who had a 68 yard touchdown run called back because of an off-side penalty, set up the second Raider score with a 50-yard scamper two plays after the heart breaking penalty. Larry Whaley ran the extra point to give MTSC a 14—7 lead.

Eastern bounced back in the final period with a 77 yard march in 7 plays, plus a costly Raider penalty, to put the Kentuckians back in the driver's seat. Tony Lanham hit halfback George Lee in the end zone on the extra point gamble to put the Raiders behind 15—14.

MTSC repeated the same pattern used against Morehead with a 75 yard drive in 7 plays. The payoff pitch to Halliburton came on the fourth down. Jim Nabors ran the extra point.

Jimbo Pearson was the top ground gainer for the Raiders with 76 yards in 6 carries. Brother Jerry hit 11 of 14 pass attempts.

George Dykes continued his amazing pass receiving record with 7, including the first Raider touchdown. The sophomore from Oak Ridge had caught, at this point in the season, 11 passes for 316 yards, and 3 touchdowns.

GOSHAWKS JAB RAIDERS 12 7

Led by former U. S. Naval Academy ace, Joe Tranchini, the Goshawks of Pensacola Navy Air Station gave the Raiders the second setback on Jones Field in a span of 27 games.

The game proved that the Big Blue had no patent on coming from behind to win. It had been, up until this time, that the Raiders' method was to win in the last quarter of the game. This technique had been effective in three straight OVC victories and the Raiders had consistently pulled ahead to win in the fading moments of the game. The Floridian "swabbies" used the same approach to overhaul a Raider 7 0 lead in the third quarter. The MTSC team had pulled ahead and managed to hold their lead until the Pensacola team, under the masterful passing of Tranchini, the running of Rogers and Peters, and the superb Goshawk defensive line play that warded off the Raiders bid for victory in the dying seconds of the game.

The MTSC lone tally came with 4:32 remaining in the third quarter, following an interception and a 52 yard drive, capped by Phil Grammer's dash from a yard out. Tony Matusek's extra point was straight and true.

The drive was kept alive by a 20 yard aerial from Jerry Pearson to his favorite target, George Dykes.

A fumble on the two yard line ended the only other serious bid by the Big Blue. Early in the first quarter there had been good scoring opportunities for Dykes, but these were frittered away.

The Flyboys got their first tally on the first play of the fourth quarter on a pass of 32 yards to Ben Robinson, former Stanford University star. The two point conversion failed. The final touchdown came after an exchange of punts had given the Goshawks the ball in midfield. This score took five plays with Rogers moving the ball on the ground and Tranchini completing a 31 yard pass play to Tom Peters, who played for the University of Wisconsin.

Jerry Pearson is halted from behind.

MTSC vs Chattanooga

EARLY MISTAKES BY MTSC
OFFSET LATE AERIAL BARRAGE

For 30 minutes MTSC played as if they were out to show pre-season forecasters why they were all wrong in picking the Blue Raiders to win the Ohio Valley Conference championship this fall. Then, for the next half hour, they tried to prove that they deserved the lofty early ranking— but it was too late. That was the story as the Raiders were trounced in the Golden Anniversary Homecoming game, 25 12 by Chattanooga.

Understandably tense at the beginning of the game, the Raiders put Chattanooga in business and themselves out in the cold by giving up the ball three times on fumbles and once on a pass interception in the first half alone. The Mocs arose to take advantage of the opportunities and ran up a 19—0 halftime lead, mainly on the running of potent fullback Carey Henley and versatile quarterback Jim Washburn.

But if MTSC couldn't match the powerful Moc ground game in the first half, neither could Chattanooga equal the Raider passing attack in the second. In total offense, MTSC had a slight edge, 333 yards to 327.

Spells of shoddy tackling on the part of the Raiders helped the Chattanooga cause at times. MTSC defenders got good licks in at least four times on Henley's first touchdown run, a 26 yarder, only to let him slip away from them. He later added a 71 yard scoring jaunt to his credit.

Chattanooga stopped the first third-quarter drive by the Raiders on the six-inch line, but MTSC came right back after a Moc punt to score on the final play of the period on a 29 yard pass from Bailey to Halliburton.

The Mosc actually iced the game in the fourth quarter with an 86 yard drive following the stall of another MTSC scoring bid. Spanky Mercer got that score on a two-yard plunge after a 47 yard pass from Bradshaw to Bob Yurjevic set it up.

Charlie Rice starts around right end as Moccasins close in.

Dykes' TD reception came with less than two mintues remaining and all Raider hopes for a comeback win completely faded.

MTSC was at midseason. The Raiders has just finished a flurry of non-conference games and had only to play Florence State before returning to OVC conference play against Murray, East Tennessee State and Tech.

RAIDERS SCORE FIFTH VICTORY OF SEASON OVER FLORENCE STATE

The Raiders once again gave their followers a bad case of jangled nerves as they pulled their seventh game of the season out of the fire in the last quarter of the game. The first two periods saw two evenly matched teams almost deadlocked in a push to score. The Lions, playing from a single wing, finally managed to score a 42 yard field gold with 9:26 left to play in the second period. The Raiders were unable to retaliate during the remainder of the period and the half saw Florence out front 3 - 0.

An unidentified Raider goes down after try for yardage.

The Blue Raiders showed their ability to bounce back in the third period when Bill Settle scored on a pass from Bailey. From this point on it was the Raiders all the way. Although they still suffered from the fumbles which had cropped up again and again during the season, the two which were lost to the Lions in this game did them no real harm.

The Raider pass superiority was clearly demonstrated against FSC. The Big Blue attempted 10 passes and completed six while the Lions were able to complete only five of 16 attempted. It was in this game that MTSC fans saw the Raider pass defense at its best. The passing attack of the Lions, which some thought might present a threat to the Raiders, was almost completely stopped and the Lions had only 44 yards gained in passing as compared with the Raiders 122 pass yards gained. Each team suffered one pass interception each, but both of these scoring attempts were quickly halted.

In the fourth period of the game, the Raiders sewed up their fifth victory of the year when Bailey scored from the 1 yard line with 3:48 left to play. Matusek successfully completed the kick to put MTSC out front 13 - 3.

The evenly matched nature of the game was most evident in the rushing yardage. The Blue Raiders barely edged ahead of the Lions. MTSC's total yards gained in rushing were 150, FSC had 149. It was in the air that the Murfreesboro team really demonstrated its superiority, scoring nearly 3 times the pass yardage of their opponents. In this game the Raiders suffered heavily from yardage lost due to penalities. They were penalized for a total of 51 yards which could have been a deciding factor in the game had the Florence State passing been better or had their pass defense been more effective.

MTSC vs Murray State

MTSC SETS PASSING MARK IN 27—18 OVC WIN OVER MURRAY

MTSC set a new school record when they invaded the Murray State Homecoming and defeated the Kentuckians 27—18. The Raiders needed only 27 yards to better their 1955 passing total of 1162. They hit eight passes for 154 yards to set a MTSC record of 1289 yards.

The Raiders came from behind for the fifth time during the year to remain undefeated in OVC by a 27—18 score over Murray State. Repeating the epidemic of fumbles that gave Chattanooga two easy scores and set up the Florence field goal two weeks before, Jerry Pearson fumbled three times in the first five plays to give the Kentucky team an early score on a Fioravanti run. A punt got the Raiders in a hole again in the second quarter and a 15 yard pass and George's one yard run put the Thoroughbreds out in front 12—0.

With a minute and fifteen seconds left in the first half, the Raiders moved 80 yards in 48 seconds to send Grammer over from the one yard line with Matusek kicking the point. The drive started with a 13 yard Bailey to Dykes pass that broke the old MTSC pass record. Larry Whaley got 30 more yards on a Bailey pass and run, coupled with a 15 yard penalty. Two quick strikes to Bill Settle for 10 and 9 yards and the Raiders had it first and goal to go on the one from whence Grammer scored.

Duplicating the quick opening thrust up the middle that counted for the third Chattanooga score and that almost worked for Florence, Murray's Bill Jaslowski went 62 yards with 12:03 remaining in the third quarter. Trailing 18—7, the Raiders finally settled down to steady play with Jimbo Pearson moving from the 30 to the 16. Grammer went to the two and then Whaley was across on the option. Matusek again converted. A 15 yard penalty early in the fourth quarter gave the Raiders the ball on the thoroughbred 47. Grammer made six, then Terry Bailey hit Dykes from the 45 to the 3 with a touchdown pitch.

Coach Murphy is carried off the field on the shoulders of a victorious team.

The final Raider score came with 7:27 remaining in the fourth quarter. Armstrong recovered a fumble on the 37. Hobbs moved for a first down and Nabors moved for an 11 yard gain. Rice went for another first down and Nabors scored with Matusek converting.

Statistic wise, the Raiders had 23 first downs to 13; gained 369 net yards, 210 rushing and 159 passing to Murray's 151 on the ground. Penalties were even at 50 yards each. MTSC outkicked the Thoroughbreds with a 39.5 to 34 yard average.

MTSC vs Tennessee Tech

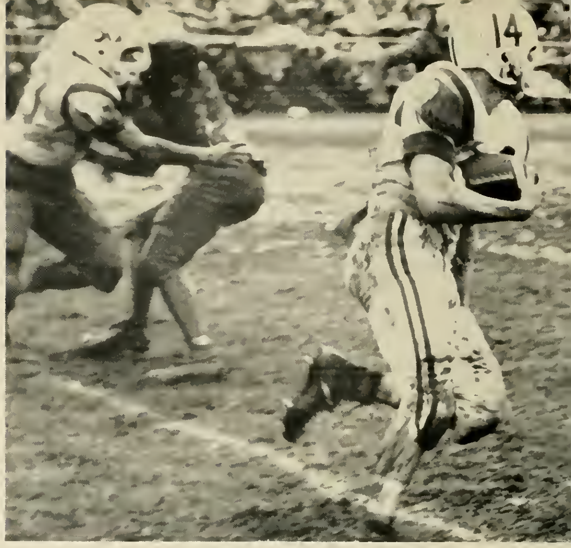
TPI VICTORY MARS THANKSGIVING FOR MTSC

Much excitement and speculation preceded the most highly competitive game of the MTSC season. The annual clash with Tennessee Tech brought on much heated controversy and speculation about the outcome of the game. The two teams had finished the season except for this final game and the statistics of both revealed such evenly matched strength that the final result was anybody's guess. The missing totem pole had given the Eagles a determined boost in morale and the chilling rain which fell during most of the game did little to dampen the spirits which were running high.

The Tangerine Bowl bound Raiders were thrown behind early in the game when Tech broke away to score in the first period of play. This initial lead threw the Big Blue momentarily and the condition of the playing field made their passing attempts much less effective than they had been against earlier opponents. Being unable to take to the air, the Raiders had to battle it out on the ground against an Eagle team that outweighed them all the way down the line. This weight advantage was evident in the comparison of yards gained on the ground. MTSC was able to push through for only 107 yards gained. Tech rushed for a total of 130.

The inclement weather and poor playing conditions did not seem to bother the TPI eleven as much as it did the Raiders. Plagued by fumble after fumble, the Raiders constantly halted their own progress toward the goal. The Eagles took full advantage of every MTSC mistake throughout the mud-marred contest. Of the eleven fumbles which the Big Blue made, three were recovered by Tech and effectively used against them. The final outcome of the game was determined by a fumble in the last minutes of play when MTSC finally pushed through to score, but then fumbled on the snap from center when they tried for two points on the PAT.

The most significant factor in the game was the bad weather which made passing too risky for either team. Of the 9 passes which the Raiders attempted, only one was completed and they gained a total of only 8 yards through passing. The Eagles fared little better, completing only two of six passes attempted for a total of only 14 yards. The TPI victory was a smarting blow to the pride of the Bowl bound Raiders and Thanksgiving Day at MTSC was marked by both gloomy weather and gloomy spirits.



Jerry Pearson finds an opening.

School spirit at MTSC is directly related to the outstanding squad of cheerleaders who give valuable moral support to the athletic activities of the college. The enthusiasm which is generated by these energetic individuals is fundamental to the overall spirit of the school. To create and maintain school spirit demands skill and desire and just plain hard work, for a great cheerleader is something more than someone who leads a yell; he is a source of inspiration to the team and to the student body.

BASKETBALL

MTSC's 1961-62 basketball season can be classified as the "hard luck" year for Blue Raider roundball. Although Coach Eddie Diddle, Jr's Blue Raiders lost many of their games by only one or two points, this did not help in the final tally. The overall picture left only a so-so season.

Under the guidance of Coach Diddle and his assistant Bill Stokes, such stalwarts as Bennett Jent, Dwain Jones, Ed Newton, Paul Holland, Jack McCauley, Joe Baker, Paul Dailey, and Bill Nickell gave it their best, but old Lady Luck just could not be found on the Raider side.

First year men on the varsity included Ken Peek, Ron Wilmouth, Eddie Hobson, and Troy Jones. They lend hopes to future Raider teams.

The 1961-62 basketball team had a record of six wins and twelve losses for the season. In conference action, the Raiders posted only a 2-10 mark with their wins being over East Tennessee and the OVC's upset of the year at Morehead State.

Paul Holland finished the season as the team's top scorer with a 14.1 average. Co-Captain Ed Newton was second in the scoring department with a 11.1 average for the eighteen games. The other co-captain, Bennett Jent, was the team's top rebounder with an average of 11.5 grabs per game.

Much of the blame for the somewhat disappointing season must be placed on some of the "bad breaks" which the team experienced. The first big disappointment was a week before the season opened when guard Phil Jones was forced to have a knee operation that caused him to miss the entire 1961-62 season.

But Raider fans look to the future with the return of many of this season's lettermen. Many believe that a further development of the spirit displayed during this season can have rewards for basketball in the years to come.

In addition to the team's hours on the practice court, there are others who do much work that is never seen in actual competition. Players and coaches alike are heavily dependent upon managers Larry Jeffery and Charlie Reeder whose responsible performances have done much to help make the Blue Raiders a successful basketball team.

Bill Nickell

Dwain Jones in action on the MTSC court captures the tension and suspense of intercollegiate athletic competition. Many people see only the glory and thrill of the games. The fact is often overlooked that those who make up the members of our Blue Raider Varsity Basketball squad are students who have the same academic responsibilities that all other students have., and still find the time to represent their college in athletic competition. It is this spirit of willingness to serve that has made basketball a sport with a proud tradition at MTSC.

FRESHMAN TEAM

Great basketball teams are not born . . . they are made. The cheering crowds and the thrills of varsity competition are the reward for those who prove themselves in the role of freshman athletes. It is in freshman competition that the skills are developed which exhibit themselves in varsity performance. Players on the freshman team learn the fine points of the sport and the rules of sportsmanship which help develop them into varsity team members of which MTSC can be proud. This year's freshman basketball team consisted of John Fuqua, Robert Venanzio, Richard Holland, Lamar Holland, Bob Reneau, James Graves, Norman Sain, Dan Midgett, and Johnny Howse. The talent of these freshman players seems to promise championship varsity teams for MTSC in the near future.

Practices also require lively stepping.

BASEBALL

A new coach and a majority of returning players did not give the Blue Raider baseball team the record which it had anticipated for the 1960 season. Coach Jack Deere's seasoned coaching and the experience and depth of returning players simply could not equalize the strength of the teams which challenged the 1960 Raider Nine.

The over all record for last season was five wins and eleven losses. The Raiders defeated David Lipscomb, Murray State, Austin Peay, Tennessee Tech and Sewanee, but the team was unable to start and maintain a consistent winning streak. Phil Jones, left fielder for the Raiders, led the 1961 team in batting average with a seasonal average of .356. Don Tassey, right fielder, was in second place with a .333 average.

The team's overall batting average was .250 with 66 runs for the season, 59 RBI's and 2 home runs. John Stanford and Jere Ray provided the pitching strength for the team, with Coach Deere depending upon them for seven games apiece during the season. Painter and Stanford had one home run apiece for the season and Phil Jones and Louis Alford were tied for runs batted in.

With many of last season's lettermen graduating, the Raiders will have to depend upon newcomers for much of the coming season's support. The coming season's schedule will be much the same as last year's.

MTSC TRACK TEAM

Coach Joe Black Hayes continued this year the excellent record established by the 1960 track team. The 1960 tracksters were credited with having proved the most adept and having created more interest in track sports than any other team in history.

Under the fine coaching of Coach Hayes, the team placed second in the Ohio Valley Conference Meet at Tennessee Tech for the second consecutive year. The Team won 6 of its eight individual meets, defeating Austin Peay, Tennessee Tech, David Lipscomb and Western Kentucky. At the Tennessee Intercollegiate Meet, held at the University of the South at Sewanee, Middle Tennessee State Tracksters were declared first place winners with a total of 63 points, 20 more than second place winner, Tennessee Tech. Ray Purvis remained at the top of the track stars, equalling his own record of 9.6 seconds for the 100 yard dash which he set last year and his record of 22.1 for the 220 yard dash, also set in 1960. Tom Cannon placed first in the mile run at the OVC tournament, completing the run in 4:25 . Don Willingham was the third place winner in the 220 yard dash at the Tennessee Intercollegiate Meet. Two of MTSC's relay teams topped 1st place honors at the OVC tournament, Gene Watson and Richard Roache taking first place in the 440 yard relay and Frank Halliburton, Tom Cannon and Bennett Jent winning the mile relay.

Ray Purvis' 1960 OVC record of 22 feet 11⅝ inch broad jump and Dick Swain's high hurdle mark of 14.8, both set during the last track season, were not broken this year

GOLF

For the second successive year, Coach E. K. Patty's linksmen have had a more than successful season. The 1960 Blue Raider golfers made a truly superlative showing winning the TIAC Tournament and the OVC Tournament. The team has almost an identical record for the 1961 season, winning the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament for the second straight year, and also winning the Tennessee Intercollegiate Championship.

MTSC golfers made a particularly good showing individualwise at the Ohio Valley Conference Golf Tournament which was held at the Stones River Country Club. David Dixon, Joel Vinson and Gary Head of the Blue Raider team placed 1st, 2nd and 3rd in individual scoring respectively. David Dixon was the low medalist with a score of 139. Teammate Joel Vinson was only two strokes behind to place second with a 143 score and another golfer, Gary Head was only two strokes behind him. It is significant to note that each of the seven teams participating in the tournament had a four man team entered, and of the top three champions, all came from MTSC. All golfers were in the top ten in the tournament. The second season of undisputed wins ranks the Raiders as tops in the OVC and in this section of the country.

TENNIS TEAM

Tommy Parks

The tennis team, coached by Dr. E. O. Hawkins, finished the season with a somewhat disappointing record. Although the group was not able to point to any significant tournament wins, their record does not indicate the progress which the team made during the matches in which they participated. Neither does the record show the valuable experience which the players gained and their contribution to MTSC as its representatives in intercollegiate competition.

Andre Duhaime was captain of the 1960-61 team and the supporting members of the team were Fred Bonney, Leon Pruitt, Bonnie Hudgens, Ron Guess, Tommy Parks, and Jerry Davidson. The team met TPI, Murray State, Western, U. T. and the University of Chattanooga in matches during the season. The team finished seventh in OVC tournament play.

Coach Hawkins does not predict any outstanding tennis records for the coming year since he lost four of his varsity players in graduation ceremonies. The 1961-62 season will primarily be a training year, building the necessary skills in the new members of the team to insure a winning year in '63.

INTRAMURALS

The fundamental purpose of the intramural program is the promotion of a well-rounded program with a variety of activities to promote leisure education, to develop group spirit and to promote physical, social and mental health.

This year the directors of the program have enlarged and widened its scope with the addition of the aforementioned activities. These new activities have been met with much enthusiasm and have enjoyed as much success as the old standbys, football and basketball, although these two still remain the main attractions of the intramural program. Champions are declared from the elimination of a round robin tournament which usually generates enthusiasm and intense competition among the participating teams. Through such activities, those students who do not have the desire to participate in intercollegiate sports are still provided an opportunity to develop sportsmanship and the intramural committee has the responsibility of encouraging as many students as possible to participate.

Feats of skill in the physical realm require a little more daring and courage than mental gymnastics. Perhaps in a world as confused as ours presently is, it might be most beneficial to learn the topsy-turvy antics taught in the MTSC Physical Education Department.

She flies through the air with the greatest of ease . . . like the proverbial young man on the flying trapeeze . . . Nope, not super-woman, just an MTSC co-ed working for an "A" in tumbling.

The athletic struggles of intra-mural contests are as seriously fought as the inter-collegiate games. Students are able to contribute their abilities and time, promoting class and organizational activities, by participation in the MTSC intra-mural program.

The annual Blue White game features prospects for next fall's varsity Raiders The event is played under regular game conditions and provides valuable pre-season experience.

Not only does bowling provide the MTSC student with a chance for relaxation, but it enables him to continue in the highest tradition of educational aims . . . developing sound bodies to house sound minds.

DIE DEUTSCHEN KAMARADEN

Die Deutschen Kamaraden is the newest organization on campus. Organized by members of the German classes at the college, the club has as its goal the purpose of providing opportunities for practical application of the German language which they learn in the classroom. At their meetings the Deutschen Kamaraden hold conversations in German, discuss German traditions and manners and do research and reading in German history, literature and politics. Members are received at the end of each semester in an impressive and dignified initiation ceremony. The organization is sponsored by Mrs. Ortrun Gilbert. Officers are: Roy Shelton, president; Robert Hay, vice-president; Martha Locke, secretary; Johnnie Reynolds, treasury; A. W. Powell, parliamentarian.

CHEMICAL ASSOCIATION

Consistently seeking to understand the physical and organic material of our universe, members of the Chemical Association are provided opportunities to hear outstanding authorities and to engage in projects designed to expand their experience in the world of chemistry while assisting them in practical application of the theoretical knowledge which they acquire in the classroom. This organization stimulates an intellectual understanding in chemistry and presents related scientific programs to its members throughout the year.

BIOLOGY CLUB

MTSC's Fifty Golden Years have produced both intellect and a capacity for fun within the students it has trained. No group better personifies this dual accomplishment than the Biology Club. It consists of a well-qualified group of students who concentrate their efforts on projects in the field of biology. The chief goal of the club is to stimulate interest in scientific fields.

The organization serves the purpose of pleasure also. Its annual Stunt Night is one of the outstanding events of the spring semester, and the club is one of the outstanding participants in homecoming activities.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE CLUB

The increase in number of organizations on the MTSC Campus has been one of the signs of its growth during the past fifty years. The Block and Bridle Club is one of the younger organizations on the campus and plays an important role in guiding and assisting agriculture majors. It benefits its own members through its weekly programs designed to help the college produce better informed graduates and it benefits the campus social life by annually sponsoring the Harvest Festival Square Dance and the annual Farmer's Frolic. It also participates in such area activities as the FFA Livestock Judging Day.

VETERANS' CLUB

Composed of former members of the various armed services, the Veterans' Club has long been one of the most influential organizations on the MTSC campus. Its members wholeheartedly and diligently support and promote many charitable events and activities. The primary objective of the club is to provide social contacts and outlets for ex-service men, and any veteran is eligible for membership. The keen interest which its members display in all of the club's activities accounts for the outstanding reputation which the group enjoys.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The Fifty Golden Years of MTSC history have seen a growing and expanding extra-curricular program within the college activities. The Industrial Arts Club is one of the largest and most active clubs on the campus. With its many social events and informative programs, the organization has been a vital asset to its members by providing them with information that will be beneficial to them both during their college tenure and during their professional life. The Industrial Arts Club has contributed to the growth of MTSC's reputation during these past fifty years by sending out each year members who are well-prepared to enter either the industrial field or the industrial arts.

Its officers are: Donald Lynch, president; Billy Smith, vice-president; Ronald Adcock, secretary; Billy Blair, treasurer; Carl Etter, sergeant-at-arms; Lewis Moorer, publicity chairman; Larry Timmons, corresponding secretary; Mr. Calvin Duggin and Mr. Harold Baldwin, sponsors.

Officers: Larry Timmons, Ronald Adcock, Lewis Moorer, Jr., Don Lynch, Billy Smith, Carl Etter.

Officers: Stan Hawkins, Russell Lynn, Bill Woods, Joe Brandon.

CIRCLE K CLUB

During its Fifty Golden Years, MTSC has sought to emphasize the advantages of the American way of life, to provide leaders qualified for service in the community and to afford the training that would best equip its students for a full and useful community life. It is only fitting then that such an organization as Circle K should be a vital part of the MTSC organizational program, for its purpose is to promote these same ideals and to encourage participation in group activities, promote social fellowship, high scholarship, and useful training in the social graces, and in personality development.

During its eight years on campus, Circle K has demanded respect and admiration from both faculty and students by living up its challenging motto, "WE BUILD." Membership in the organization is one of the highest honors that can be awarded to a male student on campus. The organization is sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club and is as busily engaged in offering its services to the college as the Kiwanians are in serving their community.

Its officers are: Stan Hawkins, president; Bill Woods, vice-president; Russell Lynn, secretary; Joe Brandon, treasurer; Dr. Robert Corlew, sponsor.

THE TRITONS

Pragmatism and aestheticism are not often related, but the acquatic club manages to reconcile the two. Its members work to illustrate the beauty of swimming and yet promote the practical aspects of water safety. Under the direction of Miss Joe Ann Gordon, the Tritons work long, hard hours to present an annual, spectacular water show.

The group is associated with other area aquatic organizations and attends the meetings of the area-wide organization. It has also presented aquatic shows at the Veterans' Hospital and at area high schools.

Officers are: Bob McGhee, president; Jim Forbes, vice-president; Louise Wharton, secretary; Faye Bloodworth, treasurer; Sandra Irwin, reporter; Miss Joe Ann Gordon, sponsor.

The first aquatic tournament ever held on campus was sponsored by the Tritons.

T CLUB

Outstanding proficiency in athletics is recognized at MTSC through awarding outstanding athletics a white "T". This symbol of athletic prowess is frequently seen on the blue sweaters of members of the T Club.

This organization is composed of male students who have demonstrated sufficient ability in football, basketball, golf, track, or tennis to earn one of the much coveted "T's". Through its activities the T Club seeks not only to serve as an honorary organization for those who have distinguished themselves on the playing field, but also to promote school spirit and a general appreciation of the athletic program within the college community.

Officers of the T Club are: Jim Nabors, president; Joe Drennan, vice-president; Don Faulk, secretary-treasurer; Jerry Pearson, sergeant-at-arms. The organization is sponsored by the coaching staff of the college.

HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND RECREATION CLUB

The Health, Physical Education and Recreation Club is dedicated to the task of developing a sound mind within a sound body. This desire to develop the well-rounded student is in full accordance with the overall purpose of the Fifty Golden Years of MTSC history. It strives to promote the profession in both knowledge and skills as well as to improve school spirit. All physical education majors are members of the organization through participation in club meetings and related activities.

The group is one of the most active on campus. It sponsors the "Powder Puff Football Game", activities at the basketball games and is quite active in the Southern District Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation Clubs. Its "Dance Around the World Program" is one of the outstanding presentations of the year. The group has also presented programs at the state high school basketball tournaments in past years. Through its development promoted by the academic fields, the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Club fulfills the purpose of developing the full man.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

All of the activities characterizing the woman's world are included in the functions of the Home Economics Club. Fashions, careers for women, cooking techniques, beauty secrets and social etiquette all come to the attention of the club's members and its programs are designed to help them achieve the skills necessary to the professional home economist or to the successful housewife.

The Home Economic Club is a vital part of the Fifty Golden Years of MTSC history, for it was organized in 1922 and has been an active campus organization for more than 40 years.

The group is sponsored by the Home Economics faculty. Its officers are: Margaret Vaughn, president; Carolyn Gwaltney, vice-president; Beverly Montgomery, secretary; Paula Moore, treasurer.

MISS HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department has chosen a truly outstanding student to represent them as MISS HOME ECONOMICS—1962.

Charlene Bentley of Lebanon has a list of impressive achievements that adequately testifies to her abilities and popularity. Her accomplishments include the presidency of the state and local Home Economics Club, the vice-presidency of the ASB, as well as a term of service as ASB recording secretary in 1960-61. She has been honored with membership in Tau Omicron, women's honorary fraternity, and with her election to Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities. Her fellow students declare her MOST VERSATILE GIRL for 1962.

In addition to her many student activities, Charlene has completed a Mathematics and Home Economics major.

ART CLUB

The artist captures the fleeting moment of beauty, the fleeting emotion and holds it on canvas. Members of the Art Club have captured and displayed the changing moods and scences of our college and the society in which it exists since its organization in 1947. The thirty-five members of the organization display their works in annual exhibition in the student union building and in the cafeteria. Under the leadership of Mr. Joseph Orze, new Art Department head, the Art Club functions as a vital part of the college's expanding liberal arts program, keeping its members aware of the artist's responsibilities and purposes through films, painting sessions and lectures at its meetings.

Its officers are: Homer Dickens, president; Ann Ellington, vice-president; Sandra Talley, secretary-treasurer.

PRE-LAW SOCIETY

Under the expert guidance of Dr. Norman Parks, the thirty members of the Pre-Law Society prepare themselves for law school and its strenuous requirements. The programs of the organizations are designed to keep the students informed of the most up-to-date methods of practicing law and give them practical experience in the art of persuasion. Guest speakers and visits to court familiarize them with the processes of law and give them practical demonstrations of ways to present a case.

AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

Since 1947 the American Guild of Organists has been serving the increase in the appreciation of music on the campus through sponsorship of films and concerts for the student body. Its members are especially appreciated for the organ music which they supply during the Christmas season. The guild strives to advance in its members an increase in their appreciation of the responsibilities, duties and opportunities of the church organist. A highlight of this year's activities was the concert given by Cryus Daniels, one of Americas' most outstanding organists. This concert was sponsored by the MTSC Chapter of the AGO.

MUSIC EDUCATORS NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Future teachers of music are given the opportunity for experience and personal appearances through the activities of the Music Educators National Conference. Addresses by members of the MTSC music faculty and other outstanding musical authorities have helped achieve this purpose. Through these programs the group has acquired knowledge relative to the problems of teaching different types of music. Social activities are centered in periodic dinner meetings.

The sponsor of the group is Mr. Earl Hinton. Officers are: Jim Bell, president; David Gammons, vice-president; Norma Shelton Bell, secretary; Mary Lynn Nuckols, treasurer.

Officers: Jim Bell, David Gammons, Mr. Earl Hinton, Norma Bell, and Mary Lynn Nuckols.

Military Science

Sunlight glittering on a thousand sets of highly polished brass . . .
A thousand pair of spit-shined shoes moving in precise cadence . . .
Crisp commands sounding on the air . . .
The martial drumbeat of a military band . . .
The corps passing in review . . .
This is ROTC as seen by the average MTSC Student.
But . . .
There's more to this than meets the eye . . .
There's much that can't be seen . . .
Much that is a genuine tribute to the proud tradition of Fifty Golden Years of MTSC history.

It is there without a doubt,
something sensed, not seen . . .
Something almost defying definition,
yet indisputably real . . .
Existing, yet intangible.
It is a sense of pride . . . A sense of being . . .
A sense of belonging to an organization representing some small portion of the individual citizen's responsiblity toward duty, and honor, and country.
This is the part of ROTC that is never seen,
and yet, perhaps the part that is most real.

MILITARY SCIENCE

Capt. James Price and senior cadets.

In our "defense—conscious" society, the Military Science Department plays a vital role in providing the U. S. Army with qualified officers who are capable of assuming the important role of leaders in the total program of national defense. To the MTSC male student, ROTC offers a credit course and at the same time provides for him an opportunity to prepare himself for fulfilling his obligation as a citizen to the military defense of his country. Thus, ROTC performs a dual service benefitting both the individual and his country.

Nathan Bedford Forrest Hall

To carry out the functions of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, the U. S. Army maintains a capable staff of officers and enlisted personnel at MTSC under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel Donald Tummons. Through the competent guidance and instruction provided by these military personnel, students are prepared through a plan of instruction at a civilian educational institution to help fulfill the officer needs of the United States Army in both the regular and reserve components.

The total Military Science program is divided into basic and advanced programs. In the two years of basic training, all freshmen and sophomores are instructed in the use of weapons and marksmanship, in the basic traditions and courtesies of the military, in military history, map reading and small unit tactics.

The advanced ROTC program is reserved for qualified and select students and is geared to prepare the individual for the eventual assumption of the duties of a Second Lietuenant in either the Army Reserve or the Regular Army. The advanced ROTC student is instructed in staff functions, logistics, tactics, leadership principles, branch specialties and methods of instruction.

The program demands much hard work for the student, but it rewards him by preparing him for the important role which he must play in the defense of democracy.

RAIDERETTE RIFLE TEAM

Under the direction of the ROTC Department, some twenty MTSC co-eds are selected each year to participate as members of the Raiderette Rifle Team. This sister organization of the ROTC Small-bore Rifle Team prepares young ladies for competetive matches and sponsors social activities for its members.

In order to qualify for a position on the team, a girl must participate in an intense training program. Upon qualification, she must compete in firing competition with all interested candidates under the watchful eye of Sergeant Raymond Horton and Captain Edgar Howard who direct the activities of the group. From this firing competition, the final members of the team are selected on the basis of their ability.

In regular meetings, the team engages in practice sessions devoted to preparing the Raiderets for competition.

MEN'S RIFLE TEAM

The MTSC Small-bore Rifle Team is a unit composed of students who give many hours of spare time in order to prepare themselves for intercollegiate competition on the firing range. Membership on the team is determined by annual tryouts. Through a process of elimination based on ability, thirteen members are finally chosen to represent the Military Science Department in this activity.

During the past year the team has engaged in matches with such schools as the University of Chattanooga, Vanderbilt, TPI, the University of Tennessee, Florida Southern College, Georgia Military College, Florida State University, Florence State College and Westminister College of Missouri. The team is coached by Captain George Regas and Sergeant Don Findley.

Junior & Senior Members

TRACK AND SABRE CLUB

The Track and Sabre Club, symbolized by the armor emblem of crossed sabres over a tank is the largest organization on the MTSC campus. Members of the Track and Sabre Club are ROTC cadets and the organization's officers are officers in the cadet corps.

Through the activities of the Track and Sabre Club, its members are provided with quality social activities throughout the year. Seasonal dances are a part of its functions, but the highlight of the club's activities is the annual Military Ball which it sponsors each spring. Each year an outstanding orchestra is selected and such bands as the Dorsey Brothers, Billy May, and the Glen Miller Orchestra combine with the club's carefully planned theme and decorations to make the Military Ball the highpoint of social activity on the campus. The 1962 Ball featured Ralph Marterie and his band.

ROTC SPONSORS

Always on the lookout for beauty, the Military Science Department brightens the weekly routine of drill for the ROTC cadets on the MTSC campus with the bevy of attractive sponsors which are selected by members of the cadet corps each year.

Members of each of the battle group's six companies nominate and elect a campus beauty of their choosing to serve as a sponsor for their respective companies in the fall of each year. Senior cadets nominate and elect the battle group sponsor. Holding the honorary rank of captain, the ROTC sponsors add a touch of beauty and feminity to an otherwise wholly masculine program.

SAM DAVIS DRILL TEAM

COLORGUARD: H. Smith, R. Haas, K. Burnett, J. Ritchey.

The impressive record of achievements by the Sam Davis fancy drill unit has made it an object of considerable pride to the students and Military Science Department of MTSC. Composed of volunteer freshmen and sophomore cadets who drill more than six hours each week, the Sam Davis Drill Team is the show unit of the Cadet Battle Group. Its past record of performances at local and national events such as the Cotton Carnival in Memphis, the Mardi Gras at New Orleans and two appearances at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando Florida was crowned by the outstanding recognition which the team received at the Chatham Artillery Centennial in Savannah, Georgia. There the unit was awarded $400 in drill competition, placing second only to the Citadel's drill team.

This year the team has led many local parades, including the Fire Prevention Parade, the Homecoming Parade and the Christmas Parade in nearby Tullahoma. It supplied precision drills during pre-game ceremonies and was a featured unit in the Fiftieth Anniversary Ceremonies at the Homecoming game, at the annual Thanksgiving Day classic, and at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando. The seeming ease with which the team executes its precision movements is the result of the long hours of practice and dedicated effort on the part of its members. Their degree of perfection is representative of their devotion.

FLIGHT TRAINING CADETS

The Flight Training Program was started at MTSC during the school year 1957-58.

Successful completion of the flight training course amounts to 75 hours of training and prepares a student for a private's pilot's license. This 75 hours is broken into 35 hours of ground instruction and 40 hours of flight instruction. Upon receiving a commission in the United States Army Reserve or the Regular Army, the flight training graduate may apply for Army Aviation training and assignment.

Students participating in the Flight Training Program wear a special half-wing badge upon entering the program, and after completion, they are awarded a full-wing badge which they wear as long as they remain in ROTC.

Flight Training Program members: Parker, Williamson, St. John, Sivells, Tucker, Davidson, Hartman, Crowe, Rose.

Student Life

College life . .
a passing panorama of people . and places and memories . . .
The endless cups of coffee and cigarettes and dances . . .
A kaleidescope of bits and snatches of almost memories
And half-forgotten names of people at parties
across a room
Yelling at a game or playing bridge . . .
Two people under an umbrella on a damp day . . .
The quiteness of a deserted Student Union on Saturday . . .
Pajama parties . . . midnight jaunts . . . hayrides and picnics . . .

Classes we went to
And classes we cut
Problems we wrestled with
t. s. eliot and Ezra Pound . . . Freud and Aristotle .
The confusion of not quite understanding and the satisfaction of knowing.
This is all we will remember . . .
bits and snatches . . .
pieces here and there . . .
half stolen moments from the past . . .
But after all . . .
What else was there?

BEASLEY HALL

The sure cure for that let down feeling of a "study slump" . . . a peanut butter sandwich and a big Pepsi.

The home of a thousand high hopes . . . planning place of a hundred different strategies . . . battleground where a host of athletic contests have bbn fought and refought, after the game . . . this is Beasley Hall, housing a majority of MTSC athletes and absorbing their hopes and fears . . . their triumphs and defeats as a part of its own personality. As dusk begins to blot out the familiar shapes of college scenes known to everyone on campus, the yellow squares of light that reflect from the windows of Beasley Hall defy the enclosing darkness with a warm, friendly glow; they spill from a melange of rooms where the heroes of the gridiron, the hardwood, the diamond and the track struggle with the powerful foe of math problems, chemistry equations and English themes. Struggle . . . perhaps that's the word that best characterizes life in the athletic dorm: Beasley Hall.

JONES HALL

The Fiftieth Homecoming as celebrated by the Jones Hall boys.

Jones Hall, named in honor of MTSC's second president, is boarded on the left by the Fine Arts Building, to the rear by that formidable structure, Forest Hall, home of the ROTC, the bane of every Freshman's life, on the right by the library and to the front, in time of rain, by a 1962 version of Lake Unnecessary, which in the dry season is a football field for amateur freshman gridders. Jones Hall, once a girl's dorm, now houses freshmen men. It chimes with their laughter, roars with their firecrackers, and reeks of their Brasso and shoe polish on ROTC drill days. It is here that freshmen men become acquainted with all of the ways in which one adjusts to college life . . . all the tricks of the trade . . . all the principles of good campusology; thus it is perhaps not to verbose to say:

Jones Hall, gateway to MTSC.

NORTH AND SOUTH MONOHAN HALL

As the student body grows, so grow the dormitories. North and South Monohan are the appendages recently sprouted by Old Monohan Hall to accommodate MTSC's growing number of attractive co-eds. Its special feature is the expansive new parking lot which makes it easily accessible to the aspiring Romeos of Jones, Smith, Beasley and Sims. Although its modern new rooms provide comfortable and attractive accommodations, when that special someone is on the line, a roomy telephone booth does just as well for some. Life in a dorm rounds out one's total college experience. Whether the girls of Monohan are working together on an act for Stunt Night or creating a homecoming scene, they learn the art of living with other people successfully. Dorm life is only another aspect of the total educational experience at MTSC.

What would life be for females without telephones? And the poor fellas will never know how surprised or how shy the coeds were!

The team may win the victory but the Girls provide the moral support.

SMITH HALL

The squares of yellow light from open windows onto a dew sprinkled campus . . . the last lighted windows where someone is fighting tomorrow's exam . . . a last good cup of coffee before calling it a day . . . that's all part of life in Smith Hall.

Fire engines racing to extinguish the threat of a burning mattress . . . shouts of laughter and the chilly frolicking in the winter's first snow . . . skating and swimming . . a snowball bombardment from the roof . . . it all blends together to make up that particular side of college life which can be experienced only by living in a dorm . . .

The new version of the one-horse sleigh . . . MTSC style.

Ready! Aim! Fire . . . and the world thought Castro's firing squads were bad! Behold Fort Smith Hall and its snowball battery.

LYON HALL

Lyon Hall, home of the fairer sex . . . particularly those who are adept to winning annual stunt night contests. It is here that co-eds share in experiences of living together that help them learn the art of social togetherness so necessary to life beyond college. The sharing of problems in a thousand different hen parties . . . the joint effort of homecoming decorations . . . the warmth of group singing . . . Experiences such as these lend meaning to the life of dorm residents not only for their years at MTSC but for all their years to come. Golden Years of dorm life reflect a golden glow in all the years that follow.

Fifty Golden Years . . . that's a birthday that deserves a cake this size!

GOLDEN YEARS

Who needs Mitch Miller? Lyon Hall girls and guests do without him and sing along with Judy instead.

MONOHAN HALL

Monohan Hall at night . . . the calm, peaceful scene that is observed from the circle is sometimes a bit deceptive. Housing a major portion of the MTSC co-eds, Monohan is seldom peaceful and serene within. The number of cars without indicate the number of prospective suitors within and the number of girls involved in the complicated process of signing out is directly related to the number of suitors. Monohan becomes the "home-away-from-home" and its rooms soon assume a personality that is a reflection of its inhabitants. Christmas and special days bring a literal transformation and doors and rooms display the ingenious talents of the imaginative co-eds.

Christmas Angels . . . and is it only one's imagination or do they bear a strange resemblence to Ann Ellington and Suzanne Orr?

Merry Christmas

Believe me . . . it takes a lot of planning to get four girls in a single room and a Christmas tree too!

RUTLEDGE HALL

A residence hall for freshmen women is historic old Rutledge. Within its hallowed walls, a select group of upper class counselors instruct the incoming freshman girls in the important arts of signing in and out, introduce them to the intricacies of the demerit system and serve as amateur Jean Bruce's in advising those who have that inevitable encounter with cupid. The regular room check insures that at least periodically the spic and span room below is a reality in Rutledge. The lobby is the place where exiled males are permitted a fleeting glimpse inside this mysterious realm . . . beyond this . . . the mysteries and innermost secrets of Rutledge Hall are known only to the girls.

Is he glum because playing checkers isn't his idea of a date . . . or is it just because she's winning.

A typical room . . . after it's just been carefully arranged for inspection. (Boy! If you could only see under the bed!)

SIMS HALL

The quietest quietness . . . the silence of a dorm hall . . . late at night or on a week end mornning.

The light filled rooms of a busy week-day night quickly dim out into the quiet loneliness of an empty hallway that seems to stretch away to nowhere on a deserted Saturday morning. The blare of radios, the clatter of typewriters industriously pecking out last minute term papers, smoke rising above a table of concentrating card players . . . all fade away and leave only the faint glow of light reflecting in the hallway tiles and the gentle purring of the hall fan quietly murmuring to itself. Thus, life in Simms Hall reflects a portion of life at MTSC and portrays one of its problems.

Rocking and rolling revelation of talent

STUNT NIGHT

One of the highlights of the MTSC activity calendar is the annual presentation of the Biology Club's Stunt Night. Sponsored in conjunction with the MISS MIDLANDER CONTEST, Stunt Night consistently draws one of the largest audiences to attend any production held during the year. Campus organizations compete for the Biology Club's cash prizes with various original skits and acts and the result is usually one of the "rip-roaringest" two hours of fun that can be had anywhere.

Featuring musical ensembles, amazing and surprising dramatic interpretations, cuttings from broadway musicals, parodies of plays and TV programs, fashion shows and even a reincarnation of the roaring twenties . . . complete with the Charleston, flappers and a "poo-poopy-do" or two, the annual Stunt Night has become a favorite of all MTSC students past and present and from the warm reception given the acts on 1962's Stunt Night Program, it seems that it will remain a favorite of the future.

ANNIVERSARY ASSEMBLIES

Highlighting the assemblies for 1961-62 were two outstanding performances, the Dublin Players' presentation of "The Taming of the Shrew" and the appearance of the San Francisco Ballet. These two programs gave mid-state area citizens, as well as MTSC students, an opportunity to attend performances of rare quality and cultural value. Both featured nationally known groups whose performances more than justified the reputation which preceded them. The Shakesperian group presented the bard with a delightful twist which left a lasting impression. The San Francisco Ballet was a spectacular appearance featuring a cast of seventy in addition to an outstanding orchestral group.

These two major assemblies were supplemented by other features such as the versatile Rondoliers who entertained with classical and popular vocalizations, John Kolisch, Czech hypnotist and lecturer, who mystified and delighted students with his unique performance and Doug Williams, mirimbist extraordinary. Mr. Williams' presentation was of special significance, since he is an MTSC alumnus and the composer of the newly adopted MTSC Alma Mater. These outstanding programs were appropriate means of celebrating FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS of cultural and intellectual development at MTSC.

Moments of decision—democracy in action as MTSC'ers vote in campus elections

Those Moments In-Between

And so it was that college meant a variety of things to all those who came and entered the struggle and became a part of MTSC in varying degrees. To some it meant the wild exultation of a Friday afternoon when classes were over and the open road led home for the week-end; to others it was a dizzying whirl of things to be done, elections to be held, projects to be completed and to still others college was invariably full of those stolen moments of leisure . . . the time spent frolicing in the snow . . . playing bridge in a smoke filled lounge . . . chewing the fat over a cup of coffee in the Terrace Room . . . all insignificant yet important for after all . . . they were a part of MTSC . . . 1962.

Life In Vet Village

Not everyone's day ended with classes . . . not everyone's way wended home to the dorm . . . there were those students whose curriculum included competitive housecleaning, advanced budget planning and intermediate baby sitting. The married students of Vet Village will remember a slightly different picture of college life . . . MTSC, 1962, will call to their minds the trips that were planned over a cup of coffee in the cracker-box living rooms . . . the last minute preparations and budget planning that preceded their trip to the Bowl . . . the inevitable stack of dishes that had to be done before lessons could be started, sometimes by hubby if the wife was engaged in the tussle for knowledge. If both husband and wife were thus engaged, the skills of handling the family addition had to be learned by both mommy and daddy by night.

This was the life in vet village . . . totally different from the life of the average college student . . . different problems . . . different rewards . . .

This shows just how talented an ASB president can be!

Babies . . . Bottles . . . and Books . . . all a part of life in Vet Villa

SCHOOL SPIRIT . . . SPIRITUAL VALUES . . . SPIRIT OF FUN

Bill Wade emphasized the importance of spiritual values in college life . . . and after.

And the kids didn't have all the fun . . . a special Fiftieth Anniversary Assembly let the faculty in on the capers too.

Spirit . . . that's what's really at the heart of all of life and it was certainly basic to the Fiftieth year at MTSC. The spirit that took forms vastly different and yet, was still a manifestation of that same intanglible something that adds zest to college . . . and life. The spirit of pride in MTSC and its teams . . . yelling at the games . . pulling for boys in the fight . . .

The spirit of worship . . . Spiritual and Moral Values Week and the moment of prayer and quiet through which we squarely faced the better part deep within each of us . . .

The spirit of fun that caused us to do a thousand crazy things that were senseless . . . going barefoot in the snow . . . beds shortsheeted . . . private jokes . . . faculty members reading beatnik poetry . . . and all of it put together was the spirit of MTSC . . .

The spirit of fun . . . that's what made life worth living . . . if you didnt catch pneumonia!

STUDENT LIFE
STUDENT SPIRIT

At Work . . . and at Play

With all the lessons to be prepared . . . all the dates that had to be met . . . the plays to be produced . . . concerts to be readied . . . and publication dates to be met . . . MTSC'ers still found fun for a thousand varied ways of expressing school spirit and the spirit of fun.

Sometimes the methods that were chosen to express school spirit were not always the most orthodox . . . but a few totem poles have to disappear . . . a few windows have to be painted in the course of any college career . . . somehow, even in its unorthodoxy it's all still a part of college life.

The excitement that preceeded the game with Tennessee Tech was sometimes expressed in more ways th just yelling at the game.

Football never had it so good as when the females took over and showed what they could do with a pigskin in the "Powder Puff Bowl."

The spirit of fun and laughter gave rise to a wide variety of activities . . . ranging all the way from the rather commonplace activity of electing an ASB president to the unusual sight of a "Powder Puff" football game . . . from signs urging students to vote to signs urging the Raiders to slaughter Tech. We studied and we worked, but still we found time for fun and these are the memories of those special times that were all ours . . . recollections of our student life.

And with our fun came the opportunities to learn by doing . . . We taught ourselves the meaning of democracy in student elections.

ighlight of the 1962 Military Ball: President Cope crowns Renee Ross queen of the Ball

MILITARY BALL

In no single event was the spirit of fun and school spirit so effectively combined as it was in the effort that produced a truly outstanding military ball, using as its theme . . . Fifty Golden Years.

There is something about any dance that makes it something of a fairy tale memory . . . a time to be cherished . . . , but an event as well planned and as impressive as the 1962 Military Ball is an extra special time of extra special moments . . . the first sight of that special someone looking like she never looked before . . . the long procession of tuxedoed young men and young ladies floating in clouds of lace and net . . . the softness of an early spring evening . . . the climactic moment when the Queen of the ROTC Ball is crowned . . . the softness of a cheek next to yours and the magic of far away music . . . all of these blend to make the Military Ball highlight the spirit of fun on the MTSC campus.

Before the fun begins . . . a thousand baloons to blow up

But this spirit of fun grows out of school spirit . . . the desire on the part of students to produce a social event of which MTSC can be truly proud. Behind all of the glamour and glitter of the evening there are hours of hard work . . . scenery to be built . . . a thousand balloons to be blown up . . . and tons of debris to be cleaned up the morning after . . . but it's all done every year.

One of the Ball's impressive moments . . . presentation of the senior ROTC cadets and their dates

The lingering magic of that last dreamy moment at the Mid Winter Formal

Those Special Times . . . That Special One

Most precious of our moments at MTSC . . . those times when we bade time stand still for us . . . the fleeting escape from the drudgery of facts and figures into the misty wonderland of music and magic . . . actually only the gym transformed for a night, but at the same time a night when every coed is a Cinderella . . . every College Joe a prince Charming . . . the Mid-Winter Formal.

And it didn't always take something so specially done. Sometimes all it took was that someone special . . . someone to walk with hand in hand . . . someone to plan with . . . to dream with . . . to hope with . . . that special good night kiss . . . those moments gave meaning to everything else . . . these were the dream moments that enhanced the starkness of reality with their beauty.

End of the perfect evening . . . the good-night kiss that said more than any words could ever say

Windowshopping . . . daydreaming . . . moments of relaxation . . . giving birth to the future . . . meaning to the present.

And just what was that name again?

FRESHMAN WEEK . . .

If you weren't one, their coming recalled when you were because you just don't forget the confusion . . . the bewilderment . . . the feeling of hopelessness that marks that first bitter-sweet week of adjusting yourself to college and college to you.

The receiving line at the President's reception . . . there were new faces among those receiving as well as among those being received. Dean Weems and Dean Hampton made their first social appearance along beside Dean Keathley, Dean Kirksey and President Cope, who were, by now, old hands at the business. Hundreds of freshmen wondered if they had extended the right hand . . . if they had said the right thing . . . wondered where to put that silly punch cup now that it was empty. There were the new shoes that pinched . . . the new ruffly formal that some awkward freshman boy stepped on . . . the insecurity of that first social appearance . . . it lasted for an evening and then it was over.

The other aspects of the week were not so glamorous . . . after that came the problem of dealing with obstinate advisors who wouldn't let them enter the closed classes that perfectly fitted their schedule . . . the fortune they spent for a mere paper wastebasket full of books and the tons of things from that had to be carried,—not always without some mishap,—to the third floor of Rutledge Hall.

BOOKSTORE
Freshman Textbooks Only

Still smiling . . . even after paying $29.95 for a wastebasket full of books.

And who says you can't bring enough at one time to last four years?

A whole semester's wardrobe . . . all over the sidewalk!

Now isn't that little T the cutest thing you ever saw!

And that's what your picture will look like next year!

Ah . . .
Good 'ol Freshman Week

Those were the days! Remember how stylish the newcomers looked in that chic beanie with its daring white T on a background of blue . . .

And of course no Freshman could possibly forget those charming people who sold them . . . those upper classmen with the outstretched hand who waited at the end of that long line that eventually ended in a blazing glare of lights before the photographer. By that time they had been so conditioned to standing in lines that whenever they saw a line they automatically went and stood in it.

It was during Freshman Week that the greenies first had contact with the Midlander. That young lady who made the arrangements for their picture to be duly shown in the annual certainly didn't fit the stereotyped, bespectacled, harried-looking editor of a college annual.

Upper classmen . . . they were everywhere . . . giving advice, (which usually turned out to be a wee bit incorrect) . . . and taking money (always.)

Then it drew to a close. There was the march downtown . . . that charming parade of fashions . . bermudas . . . beanies . . . unmatched shoes . . . gaudy socks . .

If they weren't duly impressed with the stylishness of Freshman Week fashions, it was probably because they weren't an upper classman.

After that . . ., Well, we just didn't pay much attention to them. Freshman Week was over . . . they were one of us then, fully absorbed in the whirl of activities that was to make another year of history for MTSC. After that they were on their own.

There's no spirit like Freshman spirit . especially at the end of a Freshman parade.

HOMECOMING

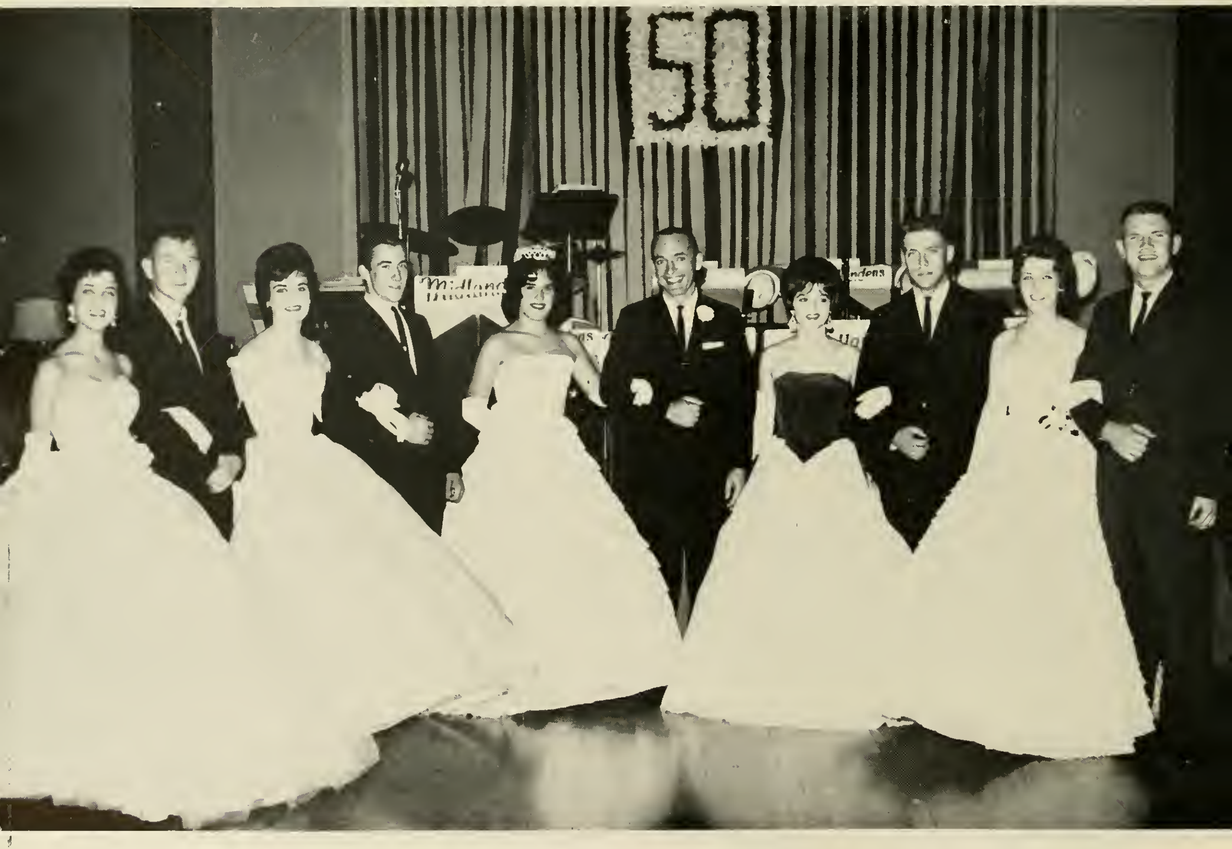
And there is always homecoming what record of student life would be complete without the reminiscences of Homecoming Day? It was a typical homecoming day . . . typical, that is, if based on the last three gloomy ones that MTSC has known . . .

Of course the gloom could not dispel the radiance of MTSC's reigning beauty of the day, Homecoming Queen Sylvia Webb, with her gallant escort, President of the Associated Student Body Charlie Harrell. She made it on and off the field without hitting a single mud puddle.

The chill of the drizzly day and the sting of defeat were forgotten in the gaiety of the Homecoming Dance, which was a commemoration of FIFTY GOLDEN YEARS.

Queen Sylvia Webb . . . Homecoming royalty for the 50th Anniversary

Homecoming queen and her court: Rose Dodd, Billy Escue, Vivian Roberts, Maurice Langevin Queen Sylvia Webb, Charlie Harrel, Patsy Hows, Carl McMahon, Sally Baker, Wayne Dorris.



The 1962 Homecoming had its first: the first appearance of the Blue Raider, the twentieth century counterpart of Nathan Bedford Forest, portrayed by Dick Schooman in full Confederate regalia . . . the dedication of a new MTSC flag and a new Alma Mater . . . And homecoming simply is not homecoming without floats . . without remembering the nights of hurried preparation and last minute building that created them. How aware we were of our Fifty Golden Years! Thirty floats and five dorm motifs reminded us of the glorious past . . . the remarkable progress and the total achievement of MTSC during the past fifty years . . . and we joked about it and made a few corney remarks . . . after all, a full fledged member of the Atomic Age can not be too sentimental . . . but deep down inside there was a glow . . . a warm sense of pride . . . a satisfying feeling of achievement for what we had done . . . for what MTSC had done . . . for what those gone before us had done.

FOOTBALL ACTIVITIES

This is a review of your life at MTSC during 1961-62 . . Do you remember the excitement when the news spread rapidly over the MTSC campus that the Raiders had been invited, for the second time, to participate in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida? What a flurry of excitement followed that announcement . . . the hurried preparations . . last minute scrimmaging . . . the final polishing of the band program . . . the finishing touches that perfected the drill team's performance . . . and then we were off . . Orlando or bust! And sooner than it seemed, there we were. MTSC supporters packed the stands. Shorter fans were boosted to the shoulders of taller ones against the panorama of faces and drums and sousaphones that composed the backdrop against which the game was played.

The pre-game anxiety of Tangerine Bowl fans is reflected on the face of a faithful MTSC rooter.

Tangerine Bowl fans pulling through that bitter second half

Thousands of faces reflected the pre-game tension that preceded the kickoff. The hopes of hundreds of students followed the spiralling kick as it bounded down the field. Hopes rose and fell as the game ground to its final disappointing moment. The high hopes, the frenzied excitement of the bonfires and the parades momentarily dimmed in the face of defeat at the hands of the Lamar Tech Cardinals and under the impact of the chilly welcome which drove MTSC rooters to the wooly comfort of blankets hastily borrowed from motels and fellow students. The Tangerine Bowl . . . 1961.

Could Gene possibly be longing for a little of the heat that was wasted at the pre-game bonfire? Who would have thought Florida could be like this?

STUDENT UNION

There are a thousand aspects of life at MTSC . . . the things that you did and the things that you did not do. These things you will remember long after many of the facts have faded.

The sun forming silhouettes on the floor of a deserted Student Union lobby on a Saturday morning created a poignant statement of the MTSC "suitcase" program. How could we forget the topic that caused so many bull session solutions . . . the issue of so many student selections . . . the top item on the list of problems to be solved . . . the thwart to week end activities.

Oh where and oh where have the MTSC students gone? Home for the week-end.

Ah, yes, remember that haven for the weary, the abiding place between classes, the den of bop and bridge, MTSC's Terrace Room. It was there that we imbibed several thousand cups of coffee, complained about several hundred undeserved assignments, and made a million different plans.

And we saw things change . . . remember when the bookstore pushed the post office into the lobby . . . the smell of new wood and wet paint that pervaded for weeks after and the bewildered look on the faces of freshmen who could not get the "darn" combination to work.

And how would we ever have made it without the rec room? It was there that we developed the more important skills with the cue stick and the ping-pong ball . . . it was there that we applied the old rule "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" . . . it was the rec room that kept us from being dull. Those spare moments of 1962 . .

Breakfast   Bridge and Bull sessions, Terrace Room specialties.

Eight ball in the side pocket! What better way to ease that pre-exam tension!

Post office smiles . . . usually the result of a new box combination, sweet smelling letter, or else a check from home.

Classes

The annals of a college are recorded in its classes . . .
they come . . . and go
And yet they leave their imprint . . .
as indelibly as the growth rings in a tree . . .

THE SENIOR CLASS

The senior class . . . caps and gowns . . . senior rings . . . hearing the alma mater for the last time . . . the last frantic round of cramming and sleepless nights . . . the last anxiety of waiting for grades to be posted . . . Graduation day . . . finally attained, but not without a certain sadness as last greetings are given . . . as familiar scenes . . . and places . . . and faces are left behind . . . not without a certain queasy feeling in the pit of the stomach . . . a certain nervousness at facing life head on . . . coming to grips with its responsibilities . . . its challenges . . . its realities . . . It's all a part of being a senior.

OUTSTANDING ALUMNI

MISS HELEN WOMACK

No more fitting tribute can be paid an institution than the accomplishments of its alumni. Miss Helen Womack, Outstanding Alumnae for 1962, has in her outstanding accomplishments, been a real credit to MTSC.

The first MTSC graduate to be elected as a County Superintendent of Schools, Miss Womack was recognized in the first edition of Who's Who Among American Women. In 1957 she was presented the Jaycee Good Government Award and was selected as the Woman of the Year by her local Business and Professional Women's Club. Continuing her outstanding service to her community and state, Miss Womack is currently serving as president of the Middle Tennessee Education Association.

Miss Helen Womack

Mr. Halbert Harvill

MR. HALBERT HARVILL

MTSC's aims and goals of the past Fifty Golden Years have been centered around the production of useful and capable citizens. No one could more aptly personify these objectives than Mr. Halbert Harvill.

His years of service have included positions such as Superintendent of McMinn County Schools, Dean-Registrar of Austin Peay State College, a term as State Commissioner of Education and have culminated in his present position as the President of Austin Peay State College.

In 1961 Mr. Harvill was selected as the Outstanding Senior Citizen by the Clarksville Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was Governor Ellington's representative to the White House Conference on Children and Youth and has recently been appointed by the Governor to membership on the Southern Regional Education Board Goals Commission for Higher Education.

Mr. Baxter Hobgood

MR. BAXTER HOBGOOD

The success which made Baxter Hobgood an outstanding student during his undergraduate days at MTSC has marked his accomplishments as a professional educator and thus it is altogether appropriate that he be chosen as an Outstanding Alumni . . . 1962.

A dean's list student, astute historian and skillful debater, while at MTSC, Mr. Hobgood's accomplishments as Superintendent of Rutherford County Schools have now brought him widespread recognition as an outstanding Tennessee educator.

Civic duties have always formed a vital aspect of Mr. Hobgood's life. In addition to his professional duties as County Superintendent, this outstanding alumni has served as president of the Tennessee Education Association and has held offices in the National Education Association. He has served on the Board of Managers of the Tennessee P. T. A. and yet has still had time to be lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Club, chairman of the official board of his church and a member of the Murfreesboro Recreation Board.

Junior Class Officers: Bill Lewis, Rose Dodd, Billy Escue, Carolyn Ball, Bob Kerr, Joe Bell

THE JUNIOR CLASS

Almost there . . . not quite but almost . . . the confusion of being a freshman long past . . . the “immature ways of sophomorehood’ exchanged for the dubious dignity of being an upperclassman . . . the peculiar feeling of importance that accompanies the completion of a juinor-senior form . . . the relief of being finished with those darned required courses . . . Another step closer to achieving a goal . . . The Junior Class—1962.

Processing of those passports to student life . . . those indispensable ID cards

Just a flag-pole repairman . . . not a student celebrating the end of mid-terms.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Well on the way . . . the second round in the bout of intellectual struggle . . . fully aware of what the achieving of a college education involves . . . sometimes wondering if it's really going to be worth it all . . . re-evaluating majors and minors . . . shifting and changing . . . the restlessness that precedes settling down for the last long pull . . . past the beanie and teddy-bear stage . . . not quite past throwing roommates in the shower . . . still finding a certain satisfaction in a well-executed prank . . . the despair of faculty and advisors extroardinary to unsuspecting freshmen . . . Mix them all up and you have the SOPHOMORES.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

More confused wanderings than had the children of Israel . . . a little unsure of what it's all about . . . beanies . . . Jones Hall . . . Rutledge Hall . . . the heckling of upperclassmen and the harrassment of teachers who just can't understand how it's possible to be in a 9:00 class at 10:00 on the wrong day and in the wrong room . . . the challenge of new methods . . . new ideas . . . new problems . . . the thrill of new experiences . . . new friends . . . newly found abilities . . . new to it all . . . yet becoming a part of it all . . . blending themselves and their ideas . . . their aims and their abilities into what will one day be another senior class . . . This is the FRESHMAN CLASS . . . From a strictly upperclass viewpoint.
